Quality is stressed as GC Steel rebounds

With nearly all Steel Workers back to work from layoff status and the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp. operating at approximately 90 percent of capacity, GC Steel is working hard to avoid "problems" that can be caused by success.

Quality control remains a high priority, especially during high productivity periods when there is pressure to get orders out fast, Ed Sambuchi, vice president and general manager of GC Steel, told the Press-Record Wednesday.

"Our problem, first and foremost, is not to get careless. Now that our volume has returned, some feel we can get careless or sloppy," the manager said. The Steel Group (of National Steel Corp.) made $10.8 million in the third quarter. We know we can make a profit by continuing the approach not to be the biggest, but the best—not more product, but the proper product to satisfy the markets we are in and making that product with the highest quality.

"There are those who say as a business increases, it loses quality. That's baloney. We are committed to making a quality product. We are going to satisfy our quality commitments," Sambuchi pledged.

He added, "The devotion to quality and consistency has hurt us. It has resulted in some late deliveries," he explained that several orders ready to be shipped were recalled when flaws were discovered. "We couldn't just ship them hoping the customer wouldn't notice. He'll notice," Sambuchi said. Only by delivering a consistently good product will Granite City Steel maintain its customers, he contends.

INCREASED BUSINESS
Improved automotive sales and a pickup in many other industries using National Steel has built up the demand for steel from all three members of the Steel Group.

With the divestiture of Weirton Steel in a pending sale to its employees, the Steel Group now is made up of Granite City Steel, Midwest Steel in Portage, (Continued on Page 6)

In the final scene of the homecoming play performed Wednesday night in the Granite City High School auditorium, the homecoming queen, Laura Machino, and her escort,

Tom Adamitis, along with the entire homecoming court, were presented to the audience immediately following the production. The play and homecoming court will again be presented tonight beginning at 7:30. There will be a third performance of the play at 7:30 p.m. Saturday for which tickets will be sold at the door.

'Vision' of ideal GC Steel created

By GARY SCHNEIDER

With Granite City Steel stabilizing at a high and profitable production level, plans for the future must be made with one priority, maintaining the quality of the steel produced here while keeping people happy and productive, Ed Sambuchi, vice president and general manager, told the Press-Record during an interview Wednesday morning.

That can be achieved in many ways, most by better utilizing the people of Granite City Steel, Sambuchi said, noting that months of work have been spent determining how to make the company's employees more important in the decision-making process, in addition to more satisfied.

The effort "is going to result in performance excellence, improved productivity and profitability," Sambuchi predicted.

An ad hoc committee of 11 salaried persons from 'across the board,' ranging from superintendents of major departments to clerical people, was selected and given the full-time duty of coming up with a "vision of the ideal Granite City Steel," Sambuchi said. The committee was appointed for three months and began work Aug. 8. It is to complete its report Nov. 11.

The symbol of the effort is "I → WE" standing for Improved Work Life.

vivacious and showing that each individual needs to think of the overall good (the "We" instead of the "I") for the growth of the company.

The committee members, freed of all normal duties, spent about six weeks "educating themselves," Sambuchi said, noting they visited other successful plants, read books, attended seminars and worked with Research Organizations Inc., experts in the field of improving the workplace, to find out

Parades, Halloween events set

By VALERIE EVENDEN

of the Press-Record

It's that time of year when small goblins and ghosts peek from flowing sheets, masquerade as the "Cookie Monster" or sport outlandish costumes as the Jedi and other Star Wars characters.

Halloween is almost upon us and activity is becoming feverish in many homes in preparation of neighborhood trick-or-treat forays or devising the most bizarre outfit for traditional parades.

The annual Halloween parade in downtown Granite City, sponsored by Moose Lodge 272, will start at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 31, at the city hall on Niedringhaus Avenue.

Walter Anders, parade marshal, said parade participants should report in costume at 6:30 p.m. Monday. Each person in the parade will be tagged with a number by members of Women of the Moose Chapter 347 to enable the judging panel to identify the contestants, he said.

The Pontoon Beach Lions Club parade commences at noon Saturday, Oct. 29, at Oakmont Center (formerly

Mitchell fights burglaries

By DONNA KIMBRO

of the Press-Record

Concerned and apprehensive citizens of the Mitchell area turned out in nearly full force Tuesday night for a meeting with members of the Madison County Sheriff's Department in an effort to stop the rash of home burglaries plaguing the Mitchell and Chouteau Township community in recent months.

Seeking a sensible solution to the prevention of residential burglaries, several of the 85 homeowners present voiced their concern with the existing laws and judicial system that will allow a suspect back on the streets within a few hours after an arrest is made.

The consensus of opinion of the residents is that they, as victims, have no option in the process of stopping a burglar if found on their property, even if caught in the act of taking household items and very little hope of recovering stolen articles after the act.

Of the 85 people attending the first public meeting concerning the problem, it was determined there were 50 homeowners present who have experienced residential burglaries.

Candidates differ on the issues

By BILL WINTER

of the Press-Record

Sharply differing opinions on school issues were voiced Monday night as the Granite City Citizens Forum heard the campaign comments of 11 contenders for five Board of Education positions.

Some District Nine candidates thought the school system should have initiated spending cutbacks sooner than it did, avoiding the trauma of six simultaneous school building closings in June 1983.

Others cited numerous cost reductions over a span of several years, said it is not easy to decide on staff layoffs, and stressed a belief that the most severe economic collapse did not occur until recent months, when the impact of the recession cut industries' corporate personal property replacement taxes. Candidate Alan Crider advocated sale of the board office building, meanwhile naming administrators to Nameoki School, and also sale of part of the Coolidge Junior High School campus along Fehling and Nameoki roads. Adjacent park property could be used for some school athletics, Crider commented.

Treasurer Dewey Melton said fairness required that the district

City Temple Royal Rangers hold council of achievement

Royal Rangers Outpost 94 of City Temple Assembly of God Church recently held a Council of Achievement to honor those boys who have earned advancements in rank and other special awards.

Outpost Councilman Ron Renner presented the service stars to the following rangers: Jeremy Skinner, one year; Heath Walker, Shannon Wolfe, James Burnette and Shannon Walsh, two years; Jason Stickle and Derek Wolfe, three years; Dan Holmes, four years; Rich Bywater and Bobby Bradford, five years; Blake Bywater, six years; and Randy Wolfe, eight years.

Commander Dan Holmes presented the Straight Arrow Awards to the five and six year old rangers. Danny Smith received a certificate for Tribesman. Mike Pryor Jr. received a certificate for Brave. Both boys had received their pins last June. Scott Douglas and Mike Pryor Jr. received the Tribesman pins. Heath Walker received a certificate for Arrow of the month for April. Heath Walker and Mike Pryor Jr. tied for May. The boys were dismissed for the summer so there were no Rangers of the Month for those months.

Commander Mike Pryor presented Buckaroo Eric Burnette with the Range Rider Pin. Receiving Buckaroo of the month were Tim Bryan for April and Eric Burnette for May.

Commander Don Kurtz gave out the Pioneer Awards to the 9, 10, and 11-year-old rangers. Wayne Burnette received a certificate for 2nd class rating. He was awarded

Acid-rain fight is called unhelpful and costly here

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

It is far-fetched that Midwest utilities are a big factor in East Coast lake and forest pollution, but legislation penalizing Midwest consumers nevertheless is receiving serious consideration, Patricia A. Vopelak said here last week.

Not only could energy rates here be forced up sharply, but the Illinois nuclear industry could be devastated, she warned.

The Illinois Power Co. Environmental Affairs Department air quality supervisor, based at Decatur, addressed the 10th in a series of local prayer breakfasts, at Charlie's Restaurant. Bill H. Terrell presided.

She suggested that citizens contact their congressmen and senators about the issue. Although often in the news these days and the subject of "urgent" debate, "acid rain" has been known of since 1872, the speaker related.

Formerly of Clifton Park and Stony Brook, N.Y., she said it is far more likely that Eastern pollution stems from the East Coast, including nature itself and auto emissions.

She cited a study by Alan W. Katzenstein concluding that "even officials responsible for environmental protection acknowledge that more facts are needed before corrective strategies can be prescribed."

"pH 5.6 is wholly unrealistic as the reference point below which rain is considered unnaturally acidic. In many places in the world, including locations remote from industrial activity, the pH of rain is often more acidic than pH 5.6."

"Far more than carbon dioxide contributes to the natural acidity of rain, and far more than sulfates and nitrates determine its acidity."

"Claims that rain is becoming increasingly acidic in the Northeast are not substantiated, nor are assertions that both the rain and the lakes of the Adirondack mountains are becoming more and more acidic."

"Complaints about reduced fish populations in Adirondack lakes are not accurately documented. There is evidence some of the lakes were inhospitable to fish in the 1930s and earlier. And there is no evidence their acidity would be substantially altered if coal-burning plants in the Ohio River basin were required to install scrubbers."

"Government, scientists and industry are working toward an understanding of the phenomenon that should resolve the issue. Meanwhile, the spectres conjured up by the term 'acid rain' seem to fade with each new addition to our base of knowledge."

Despite uncertainty that the Midwest is creating wind-carried sulfuric rain that harms fish and trees in New England and Canada, at least 10 acid-rain bills already are pending in Congress and there are more than 80 sponsors, the gathering was told.

Internal U.S. EPA reports project that even a modest acid-rain control plan would cost $1 billion to $2 billion annually in extra operating and capital costs.

The utility industry, which burns about 80 percent of all the coal used in the U.S., contends the cost would be four or five times that high.

Environmental Administrator William Ruckelshaus favors federal aid to states that face electric rate increases to finance added anti-pollution measures. U.S. Budget Director David Stockman is opposing federal allocations to pay for acid-rain controls.

Energy Secretary Donald Hodel believes more research is needed. But the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy and the National Academy of Sciences say risks of environmental damage outweigh the risks of acting while gaps in scientific information remain.

Deciding against backing proposed "compromise legislation" in Congress, the coal industry, the United Mine Workers union, Illinois State AFL-CIO Pres. Robert Gibson and state business groups are opposing enactment of new "rain controls." They visualize huge spending paid for by local taxpayers and firms, and the virtual closing of all Illinois mines, followed by future tests showing Northeastern pollution unchanged.

OVER $1,000 VIDEO EQUIPMENT STOLEN

At Alan Woodward, 1435 Fourth Street, Madison, was burglarized of more than $1,000 worth of video equipment last week. Taken were a 19-inch color television and a video cassette recorder. It is believed the subjects handled the items out through the rear window of Woodward's home.

Nameoki warns owners to leash pets

By PAT HAYLUTZ
for the Press-Record
Complaints from several Nameoki Township residents prompted Supervisor Harry Briggs to remind residents that dog owners who refuse to comply with the "leash law" will be fined for the offense.

During Monday night's regular meeting, Briggs listened to complaints of dogs running loose in local neighborhood and informed residents that the day and night dogcatchers will carefully watch problem areas for straying dogs. The law requires that dogs be licensed and remain in a fenced-in area or a leash at all times. Dogs running loose in a neighborhood are subject to being picked up and taken to the Madison County pound.

In other business, Briggs encouraged trustees to attend the Madison County Township Officials meeting at 7:30 tonight at the Edwardsville Township Hall.

Two U.S. marshals, accompanied by a Granite City officer, went to the home of Sharon A. Bryan, 32, of 2319A Washington Ave., at 8:30 p.m. Monday, and served a warrant alleging failure to appear in court on a charge of illegal possession of narcotics.

Mrs. Bryan was being held Tuesday in the Granite City jail pending an appearance here before a judge. The warrant was issued through St. Louis city police authorities, who were notified she was in custody.

DONNEWALD BACKING ROCK'S CANDIDACY
Illinois State Treasurer James H. Donnewald, a Democrat from Breese, last week endorsed Ill. Senate Pres. Phil Rock's candidacy for the U.S. Senate. Earlier, James Holloway, state central committeeman from the 22nd District, backed Rock. Rock's primary foes include 22nd Dist. Cong. Paul Simon. Donnewald, who served as majority leader and as a Downstate spokesman in the Senate for 12 years, said, "Downstate residents have had no better friend than Sen. Rock. He has fought and worked as hard for the concerns of Illinois farmers, coal miners and rural residents as he has for his own urban district."

Defending democratic principles

America's brave marines, soldiers, sailors and airmen continue to defend democratic principles, as they have done for more than two centuries.

A Soviet-Cuban puppet state on the island of Grenada no longer can menace a thousand American students now — nor endanger millions of people throughout the U.S. and the rest of the Free World upon the completion of a giant Communist airport and port facilities on our doorstep.

Fortunately, Eastern Caribbean casualties starting Tuesday have been relatively few. Unfortunately, our goals and our ability to achieve them are not quite as clear-cut in the Middle East, where a terrorist bombing in Beirut took hundreds of young servicemen's lives early this week.

Now is not a time for partisan cries that the administration is too bold or that its legislative critics are too lacking in will. A cool head and firm resolve need to be maintained by all, just as the nation rallied behind Pres. Kennedy in the missile crisis more than two decades ago.

There are limits on any country's ability to be the world's policeman, and America must not undertake such a burden.

But willingness to stand up for one's friends is not always as hazardous as the opposite. To do nothing in the face of outrageous provocation, or to avoid defending the innocent, would be the surest way to invite foreign aggression.

Our intentions are good. We cannot say the same for such cruel dictatorships as Cuba, Iran, Syria and Russia.

Quadrants' hearts and prayers go out to our governmental leaders and our defense forces. In these difficult times, if God is with us, who can prevail over our efforts to safeguard liberty and fundamental human rights?

Dream of fairness remains alive

The memory of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. will be perpetuated in the form of a national holiday on his birthday, Jan. 15. Designated for the third Monday of the year, the observance will begin in 1986.

The minority rights advocate had not yet attained his 40th birthday when he was slain in 1968. But he will always be known for his role in seeking basic human dignity for all. His oratory, including the August 1963 "I have a dream" talk before a multitude at the Lincoln Memorial, will never die.

We had an opportunity to hear and see him at his Morningstar Church in New York in 1967 and still marvel at his ability to communicate thought and emotion. An imperfect man, a man with whom we did not always agree, he undeniably was uniquely gifted.

It would be easy to be negative. For example, to remain competitive with foreign productivity, America can ill afford an added day of nationwide inactivity. Lincoln and Jefferson still lack holiday recognition. Even Washington's birthday is a day of work in Illinois schools, which close for Lincoln's birthday instead. And there will be no Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy or Reagan holidays.

Nevertheless, the King day has much to recommend it — as a time of rededication to "golden rule" ideals of equality and even-handedness.

It can be a unifying holiday, underscoring the nation's concept of freedom and underscoring the fact that each family, each neighborhood, each community has the potential to produce a leader, a scientist, a builder, a humanitarian. The works of any of us, or our descendants, may prove one day to have been of inestimable benefit to mankind. No one should be denied an opportunity to excel.

Events are not always fair, of course. It was tragic for Dr. King's life to be cut short, depriving friends and family members of his companionship and the world of his ideas and inspiration.

But each of us can continue to dream. Each is entitled to hope for a life of achievement and joy and fair play for ourselves and our loved ones. And identifying such a dream as one's individual and collective goal can constitute a giant stride toward making it a reality.

Even in a jail cell, his intellect and spirit were unfettered. Someday, many millions of people may, like Martin Luther King Jr., be "free at last."

Remember the poor slide rule?

Some of us remember the day we discovered the miracle of the slide rule. For youngsters who had spent years in grade school filling sheets of paper with figures to do multiplication or division or search for square roots, it seemed almost sinful to solve problems with a slide rule. Move the slide to the right spot and read the answer — just like that!

You could tell a high school math student by the slide rule sticking out of his hip pocket. For a college engineering student, a slide rule was as essential as a toothbrush. In the 1950s, slide rules were the items turning up in the largest numbers at the lost-and-found office.

But today, not a single slipstick is to be found. What the closest is bulging with is electronic calculators.

English mathematicians in the 17th century are credited with inventing the slide rule, or its prototype, by adopting logarithmic principles to a rather clumsy mechanical device for doing multiplication and division.

It was another 200 years before a French artillery officer named Amodeo Mannheim devised the first modern slide rule, and not until the 20th century was the accuracy of reading slide rules improved by the addition of an indicator with a hairline cursor.

The inexpensive hand-held electronic calculator began insinuating itself into the slide rule's territory barely a decade ago, and where the classroom is concerned, it looks like a rout. A tool that took centuries to develop has been cast aside almost overnight.

Those who appreciate the beauty of mathematical relationships could look at the numbers and intervals on a slide rule the way an art connoisseur admires the composition of a Renaissance painting. Students, scientists and engineers who never use a slide rule will be missing something. Unless they're turned on by the symmetry of a calculator's keyboard.

Harris supports incumbents on the BAC Board

To the Editor:

On Nov. 8th, we will go to the polls to elect our representatives on the school board throughout the area. At the same time, we will vote for Belleville Area College trustees. In the flurry of local elections, we sometimes tend to overlook this important vote.

As a concerned citizen and taxpayer, parent, grand parent and former trustee of BAC, I want to urge the voters in this area to retain the incumbent members of the board. Mrs. Patricia Bartoskas and Robert Dintelmann. They are dedicated to keeping BAC the fine school it is and are strong, forceful supporters of our local Granite City Center.

They supported me in my attempts and strongly support your present representative, Avery Schermer, in making our tax dollars work for us here in our area. They deserve to be re-elected to the BAC Board of Trustees.

They are interested in reaching out to all students in the BAC District to offer a solid education and are spent prudently with reachable goals. Please give your vote to Patricia Bartoskas and Robert Dintelmann — proven leaders at Belleville Area College. They need your support now, just as we have needed their support in the past.

Important for all to vote in school election

To the Editor:

This past Thursday, Oct. 20, I attended the Wilson School PTA meeting. Present at this meeting were several of the candidates who are running for School Board election or reelection.

The core of this meeting involved speeches from these candidates.

I enjoyed listening to each of them, and every candidate voiced some good ideas that would have impressed any parent or taxpayer concerned with the current school issues.

Listening to the candidates, and talking with a few of them afterward, I learned a couple of interesting facts.

1. Fifty to 60 percent of our tax dollars go to education, and yet only a small number of people turn out to vote in the school board elections, where as larger numbers turn out to vote in city elections.

2. But a much smaller percent of our tax dollar goes to the city. In other words, approximately $25 million goes toward education and only approximately $10 million goes to the city.

2. Though the school board meetings are open to the public, only a handful of people attend these meetings to hear and learn first-hand the issues and concerns.

True, this number has increased in the last year, but not to nearly the size it could and should be.

Any of us who are parents of school-age children are naturally concerned and, perhaps, frightened about the future of our education system and the problems facing our tax dollars. And all of us as taxpayers, I'm sure, are concerned about our taxes and how they are spent.

My question is this: How concerned or worried are we? To the point of attending those school board meetings and standing behind the candidate we voted for? Or concerned only to the point of complaining about the problems with our neighbors or co-workers?

In regard to our taxes, do we pay them happily or with moans and groans? Yet, when school board election time comes, do 50 to 60 percent of tax dollars motivate us to go to the polls or do we pass it off as just a small election that does not affect us?

As a candidate put it, the school board members volunteer their time and services for two to four years; can we volunteer the short time it takes to vote on Tuesday, Nov. 8?

Disagrees with the idea of banning handguns

To the Editor:

Let's get straight to the point! The editorial "cartoon" that was printed in the Thursday, Oct. 20th 1983, issue was not only completely biased against the National Rifle Association, but totally unethical in the fact that it portrays the N.R.A. as a group of reckless, gun-toting, bullies that have no respect for guns, gun safety, or government officials.

The editorial that accompanies the "cartoon" is also obviously not very well thought out before being written. The press, of all people, should agree that we must uphold all the rights and freedoms enjoyed by the American people as a direct result of our Constitution and our Bill of Rights. We cannot pick and choose the ones that we feel like abiding by, and then recklessly abandon some of the others because the judicial system fails to do their part in putting away the criminal.

A good example is the recent enactment and enforcement of our present DUI (driving while intoxicated) laws. The solution is not to prohibit liquor, but to prosecute the criminals involved in breaking the law, and I might add, that we are seeing dramatic results in the decrease of D.U.I. fatalities. The press is always concerned about violations of freedom of speech, I too am concerned about violations of our Second Amendment rights such as Morton Grove, Ill., has enacted.

You said in your article, "We see handguns as more of a danger than a blessing. Shotguns and rifles can protect us as well as a handgun." This statement is totally inaccurate. Not only is it less convenient to keep a loaded shotgun or rifle in the house, it is much faster and easier to use a handgun when properly trained in its use and safety.

You also state in your article that the "answer might be a ban on handguns locally, which would not take away the citizens rights to bear arms." Do you realize what you are saying? Maybe we should revise the amendment that concerns freedom of speech so that the media could not only publish or broadcast the bad news and not the good. And, while we are at it, let's make it only on the 4th Monday of every other month. If that's not enough "freedom" for you, maybe we could enjoy the media like they do in Russia — only what the government's OK is released for broadcast and print. Pretty fair isn't it?

The point I'm trying to make is that any infringement on our rights as law-abiding citizens should not be tolerated in this great, free, country of ours. The Second Amendment does not limit our rights to the possession of shotguns and rifles only. Personally, I enjoy shooting handguns as a very legitimate form of recreation. As long as I abide by the law, there should be no restriction on my personal possession or use of a handgun.

Remember this, "When handguns are outlawed, only the outlaws will have handguns." When this happens, then try to protect yourself and your family with only one baseball bat or you wife's rolling pin while your not so friendly neighbor points his "rod" at you and laughs. No thanks! Not for me and my family. The odds are just too great in my favor.

Claims gun control will not end violence

To the Editor:

In the editorial of Oct. 20, 1983, the Press-Record once again came out in support of gun control. I would like to bring to the attention of the Press-Record and the public that the issue should not be "gun control" but "criminal control."

If the current laws of Illinois were "enforced" and "obeyed," the criminals would be issued to known criminals. Therefore, if the criminal faction has firearms, they have been secured "illegally."

Is the editor so "naive" to think that someone who commits a crime in the first place is going to worry about breaking one more law? It would be comparable to trying to outrun the police but stopping at the stop signs.

This country tried "prohibition" and that didn't stop the sale of alcohol. What is there to cause people to think that banning handguns will deter armed violence? Speedy and fair trials with appropriate sentences, including capital punishment, is what is needed.

Under the law, the POB is not to be issued to known criminals. Therefore, if the criminal faction has firearms, they have been secured "illegally."

Gun control is not the answer. A revising of our judicial system and the enforcement of the law is!

Why punish the law-abiding citizen? Punish the criminals!

THE REV. CLAYTON MOORMAN
Granite City

(Editor's Note: The Press-Record editorial was not a "gun control" editorial, but suggested the city watch the Morton Grove, Ill., handgun ban move through the courts. If the ban is finally upheld, the Press-Record suggested the city fathers determine how the citizens of the city feel about such a law here, before taking any action.)

Soviet guerrilla warfare must be countered

To the Editor:

Unconventional guerrilla warfare, used by the Communists, is offensive in nature and calls for small, independent bands of indigenous soldiers seizing the enemy by surprise raids on his fighting elements, communications and supply lines.

The Soviets unintentionally were forced to adopt counter-insurgency tactics in Afghanistan, resulting in a military stalemate against guerrilla forces there. They know that this mode of fighting makes for a sure loser as evidenced by their extensive use of offensive guerrilla warfare in Africa, Southeast Asia and Central America, with considerable success.

They reinforce success with offensive tactics while the United States relies on failure through a continuous defensive strategy.

Halloween events set

Baslight Plaza Shopping Center) and is for children between 12 months and 13 years old. Awards will be given in various categories in both parades.

All youngsters and parents in the entire Quad-City area are being reminded that neighborhood trick or treat visits will be restricted to Monday, Oct. 31, between the hours of 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. To help safeguard the children, the special hours for youthful tricksters, or those not so young, going door-to-door have been established by Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer, Madison Chief of Police Donald Bridick, Venice Chief Farris Smith and Pontoon Beach Chief Chel Bailew.

In all four communities, the three-hour period will be reserved for trick-or-treat, adventurers, and Quad-City area residents wishing youngsters to visit are being encouraged to turn on exterior porch and door lights.

Chief Bridick also emphasized that small tricksters should be instructed to remain within the immediate block of their own home and not venture into other neighborhoods.

All four police chiefs suggest that parents keep their youngsters in their own neighborhoods or streets and restrict their calls to homes of people they know, thus avoiding the possibility of harmful incidents.

Chief Veizer pointed out the 9 p.m. curfew during the Halloween visits primarily is for the protection of children, but also is aimed at discouraging acts of vandalism in the later hours.

Parents of youthful trick-or-treaters should make certain their children can be seen while Halloweening, Chief Veizer warned, cautioning that costumes made of dark material increase the chances of not being seen by motorists as small tricksters cross streets at night.

The children's safety is better insured by making costumes clearly visible, adding white or yellow stripes, polka dots or pieces of reflective tape to their outfits, and enlarging the eye holes. The Granite City Park District is distributing reflective bags for candy and large safety patches to children in all public and parochial schools in the Quad-City area.

A flashlight carried by a child helps him to be spotted more easily and youngsters should be instructed to remove their masks while crossing the street so their vision will not be obscured, Chief Veizer advises parents.

Local police authorities also are urging motorists to remember that there will be more little children on the street after dark on Halloween than on any other night of the year.

These children will be thinking of candy, witches, ghosts and not about the traffic around them, the chiefs noted, so it will be up to drivers to keep sharp watch for small tricksters and be prepared to react instantly.

Parents should make sure that children understand that they are not to eat any treats before they reach home and instruct them never to accept anything homemade, unwrapped or unfamiliar, authorities advise. And they should not take items from strangers.

An ugly reflection, marinating somewhat the festive holiday but one which is deemed necessary today, is the announcement by St. Elizabeth Medical Center that candy collected by youngsters will be X-rayed free of charge from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. on Monday — Halloween night.

Parents are being urged to inspect all items brought home by a child for pinholes, torn packaging, off-color odors or questionable appearance. Fruit should be scrubbed and sliced before eating.

Among those judging the Moose Halloween parade will be William Monical, Boy Scouts of America scouting executive, and Salvation Army Captain LaVerne Poling, the parade chairman announced today.

First, second and third place cash awards will be presented in three categories — funniest, most original and scariest outfits. Consolation prizes also will be awarded the paraders, Anders said.

Paraders will march from the Granite City Hall on Nidringhaus Avenue to State Street, south on State to 19th Street, west on 19th to Niedringhaus and Cleveland Boulevard, then east back to the City Hall, where the masqueraders will pass in review for judges.

Police officers will serve as escorts for the paraders, Anders advised.

In the event of inclement weather, the costume-judging segment will take place beneath the canopied area at First Granite City National Bank.

Venice Lions Club members will be patrolling the streets Monday night to help safeguard the youngsters, it was announced today by Earl Hogan. Patrol members will be wearing the official vests and emblem of the Lions club, he said.

4 area meetings to take place to view 'The Chemical People'

More than 110 town meetings will be taking place in Channel 9's coverage area on Wednesday, Nov. 2, and Wednesday, Nov. 9, in conjunction with "The Chemical People," two public television programs designed to combat school-age drug and alcohol abuse. The campaign will kick off with a televised program at 7:30 tonight.

Citizens will be meeting in schools, churches, city halls, and community centers to watch these programs together as they are broadcast by Channel 9 (at 7 p.m. both nights) and nationwide. The meetings will start at 6:30 p.m. This nationwide action campaign combines the power of the community level. Every public television station in the country is broadcasting "The Chemical People," with more than 10,000 town meetings taking place at the same time.

Locally, the program may be viewed at Tri-City Park Temple, 3400 Maryville Road; Madison Middle School, Caine Drive and Parish Street, Madison; the Venice Recreation Center, 323 Broadway, Venice, and the Granite City Army Installation.

At each of the area town meetings, a question-and-answer period and panel discussion will follow the televised program. Panels will be made up of local judges, police officers, teachers, counselors and young people who will discuss the community situation.

"The Chemical People" is nationally funded by the Richard King Mellon Foundation and the Metropolitan Life Foundation. The series is locally funded by Personal Performance Consultants.

GC steel 'vision'

how to write a "vision" of the ideal Granite City Steel.

Then they interviewed employees, talking to about 350 salaried workers in small group sessions that lasted two to five hours per session. "The purpose was to say how to get from here to the ideal Granite City Steel and identify the barriers in the way and how to get rid of them." The committee received more than 1,500 suggestions what Granite City Steel should be. They formed the foundation for our activities in changing our environment," Sambuchi explained.

The idea is to make Granite City Steel a place where employees want to go to work each day. That can be accomplished by, not only improving the physical workplace, but by making people an important part in the management and decision-making process.

The unions chose not to participate in the "vision" project yet. They say, "Let management get its act in order first," and the union leadership was probably correct in demanding this," Sambuchi said.

Eventually, it is hoped the unions can be brought into the project. Buddy W. Davis, director of District 34 of United Steel Workers of America, and his counterpart from Detroit will be here next week to meet with the committee and discuss future union involvement in the process, Sambuchi said.

Adding hourly involvement "has to be a logical extension" to the work already done, Sambuchi noted. "When the hourly people do join, there will be a lot of work left to be done. In the hourly ranks, there is a lot of talent that can be contributed to Granite City Steel," he added.

It is hoped the end result will be happier, more responsible people, he noted, adding that "decision making at the lowest possible level" is expected to be stressed in the committee's report Nov. 11.

When the report is completed, "the groundwork will have been laid. The rest of management has committed to support this group," Sambuchi said.

Four-year prison term

A four-year state prison term was ordered this fall by Associate Judge Edward Ferguson for Steven Taylor, 24, St. Louis.

A burglary occurred June 23, 1982, in Granite City and he was charged with the crime that day.

A guilty plea was submitted Oct. 5, 1982, and the case reached the sentencing stage Sept. 22, 1983.

Committeemen endorse Price

The Granite City Democratic Precinct Committee has announced the endorsement of U.S. Rep. Mel Price as the Democratic candidate for Congress.

William "Bill" Harrison, township chairman for the committee, said 28 of the 37 precinct committeemen were present for the unanimous vote.

Price, a long-time congressman of the 21st

District, is being opposed in the March 20 primary by Jerry Costello, St. Clair County chairman.

Ind., and Great Lakes Steel near Detroit.

Midwest is only a finishing mill and relies on the other two plants for all of its raw product. Great Lakes is a big supplier of steel for the automotive parts market and is bus meeting that demand. That increases the demand on Granite City Steel to supply Midwest with steel to process and meet its orders.

In all, the Steel Group is operating at about 90 percent of capacity, Sambuchi said.

Armo Inc.'s decision this week to close its Houston, Tex., steel mill is an indication of the poor business climate in the oil industry. The Houston mill, like Granite City, supplied vast amounts of tubular steel to the oil industry. "That was one of our big markets," Sambuchi said.

He predicted that the turnaround of the economy will reach the oil industry in about six months and he expects the demand for steel tube to increase at that time, increasing output at Granite City Steel.

"Things can get better. We have room for additional production. Room for more attractive (and profitable) markets in some cases," Sambuchi said.

Improvements at the plant appear to be in the works, Sambuchi would not comment on the future of the three coke ovens which were under construction here and was halted, but other sources indicate the anticipated December announcement on the $65 million project is not likely to be a happy one.

STUDY JUDGES PROJECTS

All capital improvement plans are being reviewed by National Steel, but Sambuchi says three capital improvements for the GC plant are under consideration.

One would be a ladle metallurgy station by the basic oxygen furnaces which would enable testing and treating of the metal after it is poured from the BOF "providing more response to new and existing markets," Sambuchi said. Not having to meet exact chemical composition in each BOF batch could speed the BOF process, since the steel then would be mixed to order after it is poured.

Another would be a slab handling facility to alleviate bottlenecks in the material flow, particularly from the continuous slab caster, which is producing more than one million tons of steel a year, 25 percent more than was the estimated capacity of the system.

The third possibility is an LBE (lance bubbling equilibrium) system which shoots inert gases into the bottom of an BOF (basic oxygen furnace) vessel, stirring the steel while the oxygen lance is inserted enabling speeds of lower carbon levels to be produced and enabling the production of some types of steels the BOF cannot currently produce. "It could open up some new markets for us," Sambuchi said.

One drawback is where to put such facilities. "We have a problem at this mill. We're landlocked," he added.

Some minor adjustments of departments, particularly in the financial area, may occur, but the large moves of whole departments seem to be over, he said.

MILL MORE EFFICIENT

Steel production is not at record levels, although shipments are high. Sambuchi predicts that 1.7 million tons of steel will be produced here this year, down from 2 million in 1979, and 1.5 million tons will be shipped. However, the mill is operating with fewer people.

It required more than 4,500 workers to run the mill at 90 percent capacity in 1981. That figure is down to less than 3,800 people. The ranks of management people has declined by about 200 persons, to 775 currently, plus 50 in management services, which is attached to a different division of the corporation.

Only about 140 workers remain on layoff status, and only about 40 of those are Steel Workers. That is not to say their policies and, if they have any doubts about the coverage, contact their agent for information and update the policy for their individual properties.

After hearing the statistics on burglaries showing 14 burglaries in Mitchell from June 1 until the middle of August, the majority of the people agreed to start a Home Alert Project.

This particular program would involve neighbors becoming acquainted with each other, knowing the layout of their own house is empty, type of cars they drive and watch for any strange automobile or person in the area.

The public meeting was arranged by Mrs. Donna Thomas and Mrs. Jeannine Stefanoff, both Madison residents and victims of residential burglaries. They also circulated petitions during the meeting for signatures of persons who wish to voice their displeasure regarding criminal activity in the part.

Another suggestion made during the discussion related to insurance policies which do not always cover even half of the amount lost, particularly not replacement costs. People should read the installation of specially-designed doors for the windows, doors and sliding doors, as the first step in prevention of a crime.

After the presentation, he told the audience that there are other ways to deter a burglar. People should make sure there is no high shrubbery near windows and doors where an intruder could climb over the fence or be seen by neighbors. They were also advised to install lights in areas of the yard where it is very dark.

People should also mark all valuable items in the home with their driver's license number for fast identification when the police find them. They should be clearly marked and photographed with each detail clearly defined and a written description of the items and size for proper identification in a recovery," the police officer explained.

Candidates differ

Restore administrators in 1983-84 to their 1982-83 pay levels plus yearly increments, matching the "merit-pay" pattern approved for other employees.

He said the administrators get 6 percent of total payroll costs and 4 percent of the budget, low amounts compared to other school districts and compared to business firms.

Candidate Kenneth Davis suggested allocating a portion of state utility taxes to education. Also speaking were Kelly Hogan, Robert Maxwell, Donald Stucke, Robert Braundmeier, George Moore and Ruth Lahr.

Daniel Partney spoke for his brother, David Partney, who was out-of-town. Moderator Lew Thomas read the remarks of Donald Gargac, also out-of-town.

About 65 attended the public meeting, held at the Lincoln Place Community Center.

Braundmeier told the gathering of his Parent-Teacher Association participation and said he would emphasize expansion of communication between all who are involved with the schools.

The Gargac statement said of PTA activities and opposed what the candidate called "overspending" by the district.

Maxwell stressed that the district has cut expenditures but at the same time has left its instructional programs intact, continuing a full range of classes and extracurricular programs.

Operating debt drew considerable attention from the audience. Board members defended their approach, saying they will come close to a breakeven point in 1983-84 and can begin to reduce the district's debt in 1984-85, when there will be fewer costs associated with 1983-84 shutdowns, layoffs, severance payments and unemployment compensation.

Stucke said four of his grandchildren attend in the Granite City district and Metton said all of his four children are students in District Nine. Some of the other candidates also have children or grandchildren who are pupils. Crider acknowledged in response to a question that his oldest child attends school in St. Louis County.

Stucke, board president, mentioned his more than 16 years on the board, including four terms as president. Secretary Moore cited as a board member. It was indicated three of the candidates are about 40 years old, three are about 60, two are in their mid-30s and three in the mid-20s.

Incumbent school board members pointed to the successful start of a local college, producing about $50,000 a year for District Nine. Maxwell added that conversion of North High to a college center also has helped unify local high school students.

Davis said a Peoria study of alternate education financing may prove helpful, and that by attracting more industry this community could broaden the real estate base that supports the schools.

Davis said the district must balance its budget and advocated a five-year plan to find direct and indirect ways to maintain and foster educational quality. He said he foresees a time when teacher salaries may rise to $50,000 a year.

Hogan said teamwork can enable the district to improve instructional quality, enhance employees' pay and keep the school tax rate affordable.

Hogan urged increased "feedback" between parents and school personnel and officials. He said solutions to problems can be found through active efforts and positive discussion, thought and action.

Crider opposed attendance at out-of-town meetings by administrators and board members. He said it will be important to stop spending more than $400,000 yearly on anticipation warrant interest.

Daniel Partney, a former mayor candidate, evoked thoughts of his past city campaign talks with an impassioned critique of school policies, on behalf of his brother.

Listing loans of more than $7 million in 1982 and more than $8 million in 1983, he said such heavy borrowing hinders the district in serving local children.

Daniel Partney said pay adjustments have been given to seven administrators, funds have been expended on travel to out-of-town meetings, and spending cuts have not matched an enrollment decrease from 14,000 to 9,000.

Mrs. Lahr stressed the value of having a woman on the board, saying it has been more than 20 years since there was a woman member. She called for a "turnaround" in school district problems.

She cited her experience at the local school board, and said in response to a question that she would not give excessive weight to teachers' viewpoint in her voting as a board member. She told the group she has no plans to withdraw from the campaign.

All present seemed pleased with this fall's establishment of the Granite City Center of Community College District 522. Some felt several school buildings should be sold, with perhaps millions of dollars received and applied to existing debt.

There were calls at the meeting for all District Nine employees to reside here and contribute in the form of real estate taxes, rather than paying such taxes to other communities and, in some cases, another state. It was noted that schools utilize more than half of local tax dollars.

Moore said the state is continuing to add mandates for school services without providing specific fund allocations to finance them.

Metton answered a question about the costs of driver education and said state legislators control the list of required courses.

Special education mandates were outlined by board members, and it was related that two-year callback rights for persons who have been honorably dismissed were negotiated by the school system and employees.

Questions and answers, which followed five-minute candidate talks, brought out that a typical administrator receives $33,000, was cut back $3,300 to $29,700 and then was restored to $33,000. It was pointed out that payroll costs exceed 80 percent of all school expenditures.

Administrators were reduced in pay as part of a sincere effort to secure general wage cutbacks, and during the pay reduction attempt teachers delayed the start of the fall term, the audience was told.

Maxwell explained the process under which future taxes are borrowed and then repaid with a new fiscal year's initial collections.

Reports approved by the group sponsoring the meeting, the Granite City Citizens Forum, indicated that the organization is praising the petition drive begun by Bud Gates regarding possible lead contamination in Granite City. Forum President Don Conley is urging citizens to sign the Gates petitions.

An analysis by Conley showed that in the November 1982 election in Granite City, only 70 percent, or 17,447, of 25,000 eligible citizens were registered. Only 9,370 actually voted.

Based on that turnout, if the vote was split between only two candidates 18.74 percent of the citizens old enough to vote could have elected a candidate, it was related.

Describing "voter apathy and lack of citizen involvement" as major problems facing this community, Conley urged the public to install lawn signs saying "Vote Nov. 8."

He challenged citizens to cast a bigger vote than 9,370 in the school and college board elections, noting that the turnout for such balloting usually is much smaller.

Conley reported a 5 p.m. Nov. 3 deadline for absentee ballot requests to be submitted to Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles on behalf of incapacitated handicapped voters. Procedures include completing an application form and obtaining a doctor's signature, he said.

Pamphlets were distributed to explain how real estate taxation can be appealed.

Announcement was made of the Forum's plans to provide pre-Christmas refreshments and entertainment for residents of nursing homes. Those wishing to bake cookies or assist in delivery of holiday items may call Sue Dickey at 451-0210, Tomney Hopke at 877-4117 or Gerry Conley at 931-1188.

The Forum will not meet in November but the executive board will meet next month and plan a December social for Forum members.

DeMolays plan busy weekend of events

At the regular meeting of James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, held last week, candidates were voted on for Alnad DeMolay Day at Alnad Temple, E. St. Louis, on Saturday, Oct. 29th.

The Annual Alnad Shrine DeMolay Day, to honor Potentate Bill D. Parker, will start with registration at 9:30 a.m. and the initiatory degree will be conferred by DeMolays from District 16 on candidates from Southern Illinois.

The DeMolay Degree will be conferred in the afternoon by District 4 DeMolays followed by the "DeMolay Flower Talk" with adjournment at 3:15. Young men between the ages of 13 and 21 are invited to be candidates for the Shrine DeMolay Day. Those interested can contact the Master Councilor Jimmy K. Stuart at 931-0156 or "Dad" Charles Meyer at 451-7579. Candidates, DeMolays and advisors will leave from Reese Drug Store, Bellemore Village, at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

On Saturday evening at 7:30 Jimmy K. Stuart and his corp of senior and junior line officers will be installed at the Masonic Temple, 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard. The installation, open to the public, will be followed by a reception with food and dancing.

Sunday, Oct. 30th, the chapter will host an Illinois DeMolay Region 2 meeting at the local Masonic Temple, with registration at 9 a.m. The meeting will include a morning worship service and lunch served by the James Stuart Mother's Club.

Region 2, in the Western part of Illinois, has chapters from Quincy to Columbia included.

Prior to the busy weekend, the chapter's bowling team competed in a District 16 Bowling Tourney at Wood River Bowl, on Sunday afternoon Oct. 23rd. Members of the chapter and their dates attended a District 16 hayride from the home of District 16 Master Councilor Glenn Reinhardt in rural Bethalto on Saturday, Oct. 15th. Also, Jack's Daughters from Bethalto, 43, and DeMolays helped serve Triple Lodge 835 A.F. & A.M. Past Master Night at the Masonic Temple on Oct. 19th.

E. Gene Ross, a past master of Triple Lodge and recently installed as Most Worshipful Grand Master of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the state of Illinois, was the honored guest. Norman R. Buecker, Most Worshipful Past Grand Master and Right Worshipful Grand Treasurer of Masons of Illinois, was the guest speaker. Dale O'Rear, worshipful master of Triple Lodge was master of ceremonies, and William J. Mehl responded for the past masters. He is a charter member of the local DeMolay chapter, the Granite City Chapter, and its fifth master councilor, and is also the oldest living past master of Triple Lodge 835 A.F. & A.M.

National third-quarter profit

National Intergroup Inc., the new parent firm of National Steel Corp., on Monday reported third-quarter net income of $18.2 million, or 80-cents per share of common stock, after recognition of a $2.2 million dividend on preferred stock.

Third-quarter income includes a $12.6 million extraordinary gain from the exchange of common stock for first mortgage bonds. This compares with a loss of $9.2 million, or $4.96 per share, in the third quarter of 1982.

The improved results in the third quarter include operating profits from steel of $10.6 million; aluminum, $8.6 million; financial services, $7.9 million; distribution, $2.5 million; energy, $0.2 million; and diversified businesses, $1 million.

In the first nine months of 1983, National's losses total $116.4 million, or $6.27 per share, which includes a $100 million write-off related to sale of the Weirton Steel Division. This compares with a loss of $180.5 million, or $9.88 per share, in the first nine months of 1982.

Net sales were $678.6 million in the quarter, compared with the year-earlier total of $797.2 million which included sales from Weirton Steel. Nine-month sales were $2.2 billion, versus $2.4 billion in the 1982 period which included Weirton.

"Operating profits from National's 'core' steel business improved in the third quarter and should continue in the final quarter of this year," said Howard M. Love, chairman and chief executive officer of National Intergroup Inc.

"Our restructured flat-rolled steel plants are now operating more efficiently and at approximately 90 percent of capacity.

"Although steel prices continue to be depressed, aluminum prices are strong and our aluminum facilities are operating at capacity.

"Financial services continue to benefit from expansion of services and lower interest rates than last year at this time," Love added.

The financial condition of the company continued to improve during the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1983. Cash and short-term investments increased by $43 million, net working capital rose by $100 million, and long-term debt was reduced by $70 million, resulting in a debt to total capital ratio of 36.6 percent at Sept. 30, 1983.

This is the result of improved operating performance, the exchange of common stock for $60 million of first mortgage bonds, the issuance of $55 million of redeemable cumulative convertible preferred stock in a public offering, and the issuance of $70 million of redeemable cumulative preferred stock to the National Steel Corporation Employee Pension fund as partial payment of pension liabilities.

On Sept. 23, employees of the Weirton (W.Va.) Steel Division overwhelmingly approved a plan for purchase of the division's assets by the employees. The sale will be consummated upon favorable disposition of litigation pending before the appellate court.

The following information summarizes the performance for National Intergroup's metals and financial service businesses. For comparable reporting purposes, National Steel Corp.'s operating results for both years have been restated to exclude the operations of the Weirton Division.

National Steel Corp.'s steel operations, continuing the improving trend of the second quarter, earned an operating profit of $10.6 million in the third quarter, versus a loss of $27.9 million in the third quarter of 1982.

For nine months, National steel's operating loss totaled $108.8 million which includes the $100 million additional write-off related to the sale of Weirton Steel. This compares with a loss of $94.8 million, including write-offs of certain facilities, in the comparable 1982 period.

Third-quarter sales were $500 million, 12 percent higher than the year-earlier total of $447 million. Nine-month sales were $1.4 billion, 8 percent above the $1.3 billion in the 1982 period.

Raw steel production in the 1983 third quarter totaled 1,139,000 tons versus 868,000 tons in 1982. Nine-month totals were 3,363,000 tons, compared with 2,792,000 tons in the 1982 period.

Shipments of steel mill products in the third quarter totaled 1,011,000 tons, versus 867,000 tons a year earlier. Nine-month shipments totaled 2,910,000 tons, versus 2,706,000 tons.

Continuing improvement in demand for flat-rolled steel sheet is expected to boost National Steel's fourth-quarter operating and shipping rates to the highest level for the year.

While consumer-related markets continue to improve, evidence of slight improvement in capital goods markets is beginning to appear.

National Aluminum Corp.'s operating profit in the third quarter increased to $8.6 million, versus a loss of $1.6 million in last year's third quarter. Sales were $88 million, 76 percent higher than the year earlier total of $50 million.

Nine-month operating earnings were $13.8 million, compared to a loss of $3.6 million in the 1982 period. Sales totaled $254 million, versus $145 million.

Lower costs and higher prices and sales have significantly improved the performance and outlook for National Aluminum. A new foil mill in Luxembourg is on schedule and under budget. 1982 was mainly due to continuing improvement in loan volume services inflow, up significantly compared with the third quarter of 1982, and to improvements in interest margins and in sales.

First Nationwide's home building operations.

In the third quarter, loan volume for the subsidiary rose 677 percent to a total of $78.5 million compared with $101 million for the same period last year.

First Nationwide Financial's margin between its yield on loans and investments (not covered by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. agreement and its cost of funds) increased to a positive 1.77 percent on Sept. 30 from a negative 0.08 percent on the same date last year and a positive 0.77 percent at year-end 1982.

Assets of First Nationwide Financial increased to $8 billion, compared to assets of $7.1 billion a year earlier. It continues to expand its customer services capability and, consequently, its earnings potential, Love said.

Distribution group companies earned operating income of $2.6 million in the third quarter, compared with $0.2 million in last year's third quarter. Nine-month income was $8.5 million, versus $0.4 million the year earlier.

Sales rose 26 percent in the third quarter to $72 million, versus $57 million in the 1982 quarter. Nine-month sales were $204 million, compared with $174 million in the year earlier period.

Margins by the distribution group's National Steel Service Center Inc. continued to improve in the third quarter due to higher demand for flat-rolled steel, a gradual firming of prices in certain markets and cost improvement programs.

$0.2 million in the third quarter, versus a loss of $12.2 million a year earlier. For nine months, operating earnings totaled $0.9 million, including a non-recurring gain of $10.5 million on the sale of coal lands, compared with a loss of $8.1 million in 1982.

Sales in the third quarter totaled $36 million, compared to $27 million in the prior year. Nine-month sales totaled $85 million, versus $18 million.

While spot prices for coal have remained extremely low, there is some firming in the domestic utility market demand due to a slight increase in electrical demand for metallurgical coal remains weak due to lower demand from steelmakers and the export coal market continues to face strong international competition.

First Nationwide Financial Corp. earned $7.3 million in net equity income for National Intergroup's 82 percent stock ownership in the third quarter, compared with a loss of $1 million last year. Nine-month equity income totaled $21 million, versus $9.7 million in the year earlier period.

The improvement in the first nine months of 1983 over 1982 was mainly due to continuing improvement in loan volume services inflow, up significantly compared with the third quarter of 1982, and to improvements in interest margins and in sales.

Diversified group companies had an operating profit of $1 million in the third quarter, compared with a loss of $7.5 million, including the write-off of certain facilities a year earlier. The nine-month operating loss totaled $8.7 million, versus a loss of $96.1 million in the 1982 period.

Sales declined to $58 million in the third quarter, versus $83 million a year earlier. Nine-month sales were $96 million, compared with $152 million in the 1982 period.

Bull Moose Tube Co., Huron Line Co., Natm Development Corp., and National Inter-Tech Inc. operated profitably in the quarter. Bull Moose Tube's new plant in Trenton, Ga., will start up in the fourth quarter.

National Pipe and Tube Co. continued to lose money due to the lack of demand for oil country tubular goods.

Negotiations are under way which could result in sale of the plant and part of the inventory. The marketability of the remaining inventory at the plant and its possible write-down are currently being assessed.

Sale of the Stran Corp. engineered buildings plant at LaGrange, Ga., was completed in the third quarter, resulting in a gain of $28 million.

Found guilty in robbery

Christopher Bates, 35, of Collinsville, was found guilty of armed robbery in connection with an incident last Nov. 17 at the Clark service station on St. Louis Road in Collinsville.

A previous trial last March had ended with a hung jury. Bates, 31, of Collinsville, was accused of assisting with an armed robbery of attendant Greg Crookins, 22, of Granite City, in which approximately $130 was taken.

Madison County Circuit Judge Philip Ricketts presided over the three-day trial. Sentencing was delayed.

Anthony Self, 18, of rural Collinsville, was sentenced last February to seven years in prison after he pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery in this involvement.

Self testified at last week's trial. Bates testified in his own behalf.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant State's Attorney Dan Schatznik. The defense attorney was Clyde Kuehn.

GC student designs a fuel control system for Air Products as project

By TOMMYE WALTER
Raymond F. Martin's choice of a topic for his graduate project in the Management Information Systems program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was based on two considerations.

Martin had a strong conviction that such a research project should not only be an extension of what he had learned in the classroom, it should be beneficial to the larger community as well. The SIUE student didn't have to go far to find a suitable topic. Air Products and Chemicals, a field terminal in Granite City where Martin had worked more than five years, needed to upgrade its methods of reconciling diesel fuel usage. An industrial gas company, Air Products and Chemicals had experienced rapid growth in the past 10 years. Much of the cryogenic liquid and compressed gas it manufactured was transported by truck.

As the company and truck fleet grew, it became more cost-effective to install its own diesel fuel facilities. By doing this, Martin said, they could save money by buying larger amounts of fuel and not paying the profit margin charged at truck stops. Initially, there was not much of a control factor involved in reconciling the fuel usage at each terminal, Martin said. The usage was calculated by subtracting the ending pump reading from the beginning, pump reading. "This didn't show the percentage of fuel used by each driver," Martin said.

To gain more control, drivers eventually were required to fill out fuel tickets each time they fueled their tractors. The fuel tickets required such information as the driver's name, the tractor being fueled, trip report number, miles driven, and the date. This allowed fuel consumption comparison to be made by miles per gallon, by driver, by tractor, by length of trip and by product being hauled.

As the fleet grew and fuel rose in price, Martin said, this information became essential to gain more control over diesel fuel usage. Fuel, as well as gasoline, became more expensive. It became increasingly important to gain control over what was happening to the fuel," he said. Those kind of statistics became particularly valuable when trying to control fuel consumption costs.

In 1979, key control pumps were installed, requiring that the drivers be issued keys to operate the pumps. This meant that each driver was responsible for what his meter showed as being used. In addition to wanting to gain control over fuel being used by each terminal, Martin said the corporate office in Allentown, Pa., began to view each terminal as an individual cost center.

"This meant that, if a tractor from Oklahoma used fuel from the Granite City terminal, this usage should be charged to the Fryor, Okla., terminal at the end of the month," he said.

By 1981, the number of drivers employed by the company had increased considerably, along with the number of fuel tickets they generated. At the same time, the number of fuel reports required by the corporate office increased from one to four. The cost of preparing the lengthy monthly account became prohibitive. The added amount of time it took to prepare them also increased. And with the growing pile of tickets, it became harder to be accurate.

As his research project, Martin designed and implemented a "user-friendly" fuel reconciliation system for Air Products and Chemicals that could be readily used by people having little or no background in data processing.

Martin found that using conventional programming languages would be too large an undertaking. For this reason, he decided to use a fourth generation language. "The reduced time in programming convinced me that FOCUS was a far superior language for my needs," he said.

The automated system currently is in use at the Granite City terminal and the company is modifying the system for possible use at other terminals.

Several months before he completed the computerized system, Martin went to work at Pet, Inc., in downtown St. Louis as the manager of forecasting services for the grocery group. "The nights I wasn't in school, I would go over to Air Products and work on the system," Martin said.

During the eight academic terms it took to earn the master of science degree, Martin attended classes part-time at the university, attending classes at night and studying at the library on weekends. "It got to be a grind for awhile," he said, adding that because many industries depend on Air Products and Chemicals products, he was on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week. "It made it a little more difficult. On weekends, I could be in Lovejoy Library working on some phase of the project and wind up being called away (paged) for an emergency," Martin said.

The SIUE alumnus is justly proud of his finished product, saying, "I think that your final product should be an extension of what you've learned—something that teaches you more than what you already know."

Diabetes month observed by free screening tests

As part of National Diabetes Month, the Greater St. Louis Affiliate of the American Diabetes Association is launching an intensive Early Detection Drive in November. The free screening tests will be offered at St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Friday, Nov. 11, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The American Diabetes Association, Greater St. Louis Affiliate, Inc., estimates that 8,000 people will be screened for the disease during the November drive.

Diabetes is now the third leading cause of death by disease in the United States, affecting more than 11 million Americans — nearly five percent of the population. According to the president of the affiliate, Thomas F. Frawley, M.D., there are an estimated 50,000 undiagnosed diabetics in the St. Louis area alone. The longer these people remain untreated, the greater their risk of developing the complications of diabetes: blindness, kidney disease, heart attack, stroke and gangrene.

The November Early Detection Drive is aiming to reach people at highest risk of developing the complications of diabetes: those who are overweight, over 40, and have a history of diabetes in the family. Anyone who shows symptoms of the disease also should be tested. The warning signs of diabetes include frequent urination; excessive thirst; unusual fatigue or weakness; excessive drowsiness, blurred vision, uncontrollable craving for food, tingling, numbness or pain in the extremities and frequent skin infections or itchy skin. The screening tests, however, are not appropriate for known diabetics.

For an accurate screening test result, a person must eat at least 100 grams of carbohydrates two hours prior to the test. They should not eat or drink anything except water in the two-hour period prior to the test. A meal of a sandwich (two slices of bread), 20 french fries, one piece of pie and one cup of milk or regular soda would be suitable prior to testing.

Other meal plans as well as carbohydrate values of common foods and further information about the early detection drive may be obtained by writing or telephoning the American Diabetes Association, Greater St. Louis Affiliate, 1790 South Brentwood Blvd., St. Louis, Mo., 63144. The phone number is 314-968-3196.

Savings predicted under gas decontrol

Illinois and Indiana consumers who use natural gas could reap significant savings on their monthly gas bills if Congress would enact decontrol legislation now before the Senate, the Alliance for Energy Security said Monday in Chicago.

In Illinois, assuming the cost savings obtained by pipelines and distributors were passed on to residential consumers, the average household would save 54 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas or $61.56 per year, it was asserted.

In Indiana, on the same assumption, the average household would save 63 cents per thousand or $71.82 per year, the group said.

Potential savings to consumers under decontrol are outlined in a new study prepared by the Natural Gas Supply Association. Annual savings are based on the nation's average household use of 14,000 cubic feet (MCF) per year for heating and other purposes.

The Alliance stated that consumer protection is guaranteed by the decontrol bill, Senate Bill S-1715, because the field price of natural gas would be forced down.

Consumers would then be in a position to demand that state utility commissions force pipelines and local gas distribution companies to pass the savings on through the systems, it was contended.

According to the Alliance, other aspects of the legislation that would yield consumers savings are:

A section that would allow utilities to bargain directly with natural gas producers (contract carriage) instead of having to rely on the antiquated abilities of pipelines.

The provision that would reduce certain contract provisions (take-or-pay) that now exist in many contracts.

The section that would allow renegotiation of all contracts so they could reflect "market reality" and

General provisions intended to bring to market reality the price of all natural gas, including foreign gas imports.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Frequently disputes arise regarding visitation and the payment of child support subsequent to the finalization of the divorce. This office has seen numerous instances where the father stops paying child support, and the mother thereafter begins denying him visitation in an effort to punish him. What the parents fail to realize is that both can be held in contempt of court in this situation for failing to abide by the original divorce decree.

In a recent case, the husband was ordered to pay $75 per week for the support of two children at the time of the divorce. The wife was ordered to allow him visitation every other weekend and two weeks in the summer. Subsequent to the divorce, the father remarried and had two children by the second marriage. Eventually he lost his job, and due to the lack of work and the burden of trying to support his new family, he stopped paying child support.

It should be noted that the father never returned to court to seek court approval for the termination of child support. Prior to losing his job, he had continued to visit his children from the first marriage on a regular basis. Once he stopped paying support, however, his ex-wife refused to allow the children to visit him anymore.

The mother returned to court asking that her ex-husband be held in contempt of court for his failure to pay child support. He, in turn, filed a counter-petition asking that she be held in contempt for failing to give him the specified visitation.

At the hearing, the father attempted to point out that he was unemployed for a period of time. It was noted, however, in the court decision, that only the court can authorize a reduction or termination of child support based on a "substantial change of circumstances." The father in this situation could not take it upon himself to stop paying without court approval. The father also attempted to show that his obligation to support his new family made it impossible to keep up with his child support. With regard to this issue, the court noted that his obligation to support his new family was secondary to his obligation to support the children of his first marriage.

In this case, the court found both the father and mother in contempt of court. It was noted that the mother was not justified in denying visitation simply because she no longer received support. Her obligation to allow visitation was independent of his obligation to pay child support.

3 unopposed for 4-yr. Madison school terms

SAM DYMAS

DON GARRETT

FRANK EAVES

Samuel J. "Sam" Dymas is a candidate Nov. 8 for a four-year term on the Madison Board of Education. Three are running for three four-year terms.

He is completing his second three-year term, having served since April 1977. Unopposed in this fall's balloting for a board member post, he is the District 12 president, chosen by the seven-member board. His presidency began in April 1978.

Married and a father, he has long service as Madison city recreation director. He attended Harris and Louis Baer schools and graduated in 1963 from Madison High School, later attending Illinois State University.

Dymas played football, baseball and basketball at MHS and has continued his interest in sports as an official and coach. His memberships have included St. Mary's Catholic Church and the Madison Lions.

He has been active in spearheading school improvements, including establishment of the Madison middle school for sixth through eighth grade students.

Don E. Garrett, 48, is unopposed Nov. 8 for a new four-year term on the Madison Board of Education. He also was elected to the board in April 1979.

Garrett has been a Madison city alderman since 1975, representing the West Madison area. His most recent council victory was in April 1983.

A graduate of the former Dunbar High School in Madison, he attended Washington University and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Garrett, a father, has been active in the Democratic party as Venice Town Precinct 5 committeeman, a member of the Madison County candidate screening committee, and a member of the county Democratic executive board.

He was an unsuccessful candidate in 1982 for a position on the Madison County Board. A former newspaper editor in East St. Louis, Garrett in recent years has operated a public relations company. His memberships include the Bethel AME Church, Urban League, Leading Men and National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Frank Eaves, 52, unopposed Nov. 8 for one of three four-year Madison School Board terms, was previously elected in April 1974, 1977 and 1980.

Married and a father, the Marine Corps veteran has resided in Madison since 1964. He has been active in the First Baptist Church of Madison.

Associated with Laclede Steel Co. for a number of years, he attended elementary school and high school in Anna, Ill., and took management courses at Granite City High School.

He was among the board members who ended split shift junior high school classes by helping create a spacious "middle school." Eaves believes he has made constructive contributions to Community Unit School District 12 by helping set policies and making decisions to improve the educational program.

Although his three previous board terms were for periods of three years, the new elective term is four years long to conform to the revised Illinois election consolidation law, his current term was extended to three and a half years.

Motorist faces charges, warrant

While working a radar detail at August and East 23rd streets at 5:15 p.m. Monday, an officer clocked a vehicle and then followed it, activating the red lights. The auto turned left onto Henry Street and the driver got out and stood near the door.

When the officer alighted from the squad car, the man ran east between Lincoln Avenue and East 23rd Street in the 2600 block and allegedly refused to halt, although warned by the officer.

The fleeing man then ran between two houses on East 24th Street. At that point, other officers arrived at the scene and several area residents reported which way the man had fled.

Lance E. Hutchinson, 19, of 2731 Warren Ave., was taken into custody in the 2600 block of Lincoln Avenue. He was charged with fleeing or attempting to elude police, speeding, not having a valid driver's license and disorderly conduct.

Hutchinson later was booked on an active warrant alleging attempted misdemeanor theft. A man and woman who were in the vehicle with Hutchinson were released without charges.

Associated with Laclede Steel Co. for a number of years, he attended elementary school and high school in Anna, Ill., and took management courses at Granite City High School.

County budget cuts could mean layoffs

By JIM WOODCOCK

The proposed austere 1984 budget for Madison County government means more county employees will be laid off, according to the heads of several county departments.

It will be the second consecutive year that county employees face the possibility of being laid off.

The budget recommendation for the general fund for fiscal 1984, completed last week by the county finance committee, is 12 percent lower than the fiscal 1983 budget, which a number of county departments found insufficient.

The recommended fiscal 1984 budget, which goes into effect Dec. 1, must still be approved by the county board Nov. 16, but several county department heads say they are already making plans to lay off employees in order to make ends meet.

County Circuit Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portelli's office is not targeted to receive an increase over its fiscal 1983 budget. He said layoffs will occur during Christmas and Easter during fiscal 1984.

"We're not operating at efficiency now," Portelli said. "But there will be layoffs."

"During Christmas and Easter there aren't many jury trials, so there aren't many filings in our office. Whenever we can, we'll lay off part-time and high school employees during those times," Portelli said.

The county clerk's office is also to receive a duplicate of the budget it received for fiscal 1983.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said her office made it through fiscal 1983 without any major casualties to her staff. However, she does not expect the same luck in fiscal 1984.

"I foresee layoffs, but I don't know how many yet," Bowles said. "It is one of the hardest decisions an administrator has to make, so we'll play it by ear."

Miss Bowles noted that the county's financial situation may get worse before it gets better, due to the county's current negotiations with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 799 and Operating Engineers Local 520.

Both unions represent hundreds of county workers who will be looking for more money, not to be laid off, Miss Bowles said.

"I don't know what the negotiations will produce, but the budgets now probably won't supplement what they'll (the two unions) want," she said.

County Recorder of Deeds Ronald "Pink" Lucas said he is not certain about possible layoffs in fiscal 1984. Lucas' office was forced to shave its staff from 10 to six in fiscal 1983 to meet its budget.

Lucas said his chief problem in fiscal 1984 will be whether the county decides to repair some computer and printing equipment in his office.

Lucas is looking for $28,000 in federal revenue sharing money to pay for the repairs. His office was recommended for a small increase from its fiscal 1983 budget, but the finance committee denied him federal revenue sharing money.

Lucas said he did not know why his office was not considered for federal revenue sharing money. "I'll have to do some more talking to get these repairs done," Lucas said. "If the machines break down, they'll have to be paid for. And that might mean laying off."

The county sheriff's department suffered 17 layoffs during fiscal 1983, but it appears the staff will be spared further trimming in fiscal 1984.

The sheriff's department was recommended for a fiscal 1984 budget just over $3.1 million, a slight increase.

"We're appreciative of the budget the finance committee recommended for us," said Capt. Robert Hertz, director of operations at the sheriff's department. "Our feeling was that if we didn't get our budget cut, it would not necessitate further layoffs."

The sheriff's department had to eliminate its process division in fiscal 1983 to cope with layoffs. The process division delivered subpoenas and legal papers during the day.

Patrol officers currently handle process duties as part of their daily routine. "We also had to do a lot of shuffling between our patrol officers and jail security because of the layoffs," Hertz said. "We can't do a lot of preventative police work now on the streets, but we won't be laying anyone off. We sympathize over here with the county's financial picture."

High School and the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla, Mo. He is a member of the American Iron and Steel Association and the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Interstate 255 hearing Monday

A recent lawsuit filed by Gordon Gass, Mary Jane Gass and Walter Dean Faber aimed at halting construction of Interstate 255 through portions of Madison County, is scheduled for a hearing at 9:30 a.m. Monday in courtroom "C" at the Madison County county courthouse in Edwardsville.

The lawsuit, filed Oct. 14 by Fairview Heights attorney Harry Sterling, claims the Illinois Department of transportation is building the interstate through land protected by the Agricultural Areas Conservation and Protection Act.

The act protects county-designated farm land from urbanization upon petition from land owners. The Gasses and Faber were the first landowners in the county to have their land protected by the act.

The Gasses and Faber are members of SABER (Save the American Bottoms' Essential Resources), a protest group which filed an injunction in September to halt construction of the highway.

The injunction was dismissed by a federal judge, but an appeal is currently in the 7th U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Probation, jail in stabbing case

Ricky Evans, 18, of 2652 Missouri Ave. and Jeffrey Wallace, 20, of 2031 Lee Ave. have been sentenced to two-year probation for aggravated battery in the July 4, 1983, stabbing of James J. Flanagan, 19.

Flanagan was stabbed by two persons early on the Fourth of July in the vicinity of the low-water Mississippi River dam. An argument had developed.

Wounded in chest and arm areas, he was hospitalized. Charges were filed against the assailants by the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation.

Wallace pleaded guilty to aggravated battery Sept. 1 before Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill. In addition to issuing the probation order, the judge fined Wallace $150 and $15 costs.

With Evans pleading guilty Sept. 12 to the July aggravated battery and to a June 16 charge of criminal delivery, he was sentenced by Circuit Judge Philip Barick to two years of probation and six months in the Madison County jail.

County drops plan to retain part of taxes

The Madison County program for collecting mobile home privilege taxes has been so successful that the various taxing bodies can forget about the one-third of delinquent tax revenues they were asked to let the county retain.

In a recent meeting of the Madison County board finance committee, assistant State's Attorney, Marshall "Zeke" Smith said the request is being dropped.

A number of taxing bodies had refused to agree to allow the county to keep the 33 and one-third percent.

The taxing bodies traditionally receive all but 10 percent of the delinquent privilege taxes collected. But the county, deciding to go after as much as $700,000 in mobile privilege taxes unpaid over the last 10 years, had needed the extra revenue for start-up costs of a special office for the crackdown.

About $96,000 now has been received in the crackdown.

The program received a proposed $38,000 budget from the county finance committee recently to continue collecting back taxes on mobile homes through fiscal 1984. (It received $16,000 in July when the program was implemented.)

The $16,000 investment in July turned out to be enough to support the crackdown without help from the taxing bodies.

The $96,000 includes back taxes, interest and lien-release fees.

According to figures released by deputy treasurer Boyd Zimmerman, collection of interest and fees amounted to about $16,000, while $90,000 was brought in to the county from actual taxes.

Zimmerman estimated in a written report that the county can look forward to about another $90,000 "on the books" which people have agreed to pay on a monthly basis.

When that money is paid, Zimmerman said, the county can expect an additional $24,000.

THE TARGET IS YOU

Today, It's Steel. Tomorrow It Could Be Your Industry, Your Job.

U.S. Steel and British Steel plan to finish their negotiations by the end of November on a far-reaching plan to change the nature of the American steel industry.

Their decision, and our government's response to it, may be as important to you as it is to American steelworkers.

U.S. Steel has proposed to stop steel making at its Fairless Works near Philadelphia, and import 4 1/2 million tons of semi-finished steel slabs annually from the government-owned British Steel Company. Other East Coast and midwestern steel mills would soon be forced, by competitive pressure, to follow U.S. Steel's lead.

The United States would immediately lose 3,000 steel-making jobs at Fairless Works — and would soon lose 75,000 to 100,000 other steel-making jobs in other steel mills. Jobs in iron ore and coal mining would disappear too, as would jobs in the service industries which supply steel mills, steelworkers, coal and iron ore mines, and mine employees.

The government-owned British steel mills which would produce these slabs were built, and are being operated, with huge government subsidies. Ironically, U.S. Steel in the past has been an outspoken critic of the dumping of subsidized foreign steel on the American market. Now, the company is saying that even if the British deal falls through, it will seek similar arrangements with other countries.

Brazil, Korea, Taiwan, and many other nations are anxious to make such deals. They have learned from Japan how to target their domestic steel industries with government subsidies and other devices to produce cheap steel to dump on the world market.

Because of our high consumption standards and our lack of an industrial policy to preserve our basic industries, the United States is their favorite dumping ground.

A recent U.S. Commerce Department study found, for example, that the dumping margin for some Brazilian steel products sold in the United States is as high as 78.6%. Brazil is currently negotiating to sell steel slabs to several American steel companies. However, Brazilian authorities have stated that they are waiting to see the outcome of the U.S. Steel-British Steel deal.

Since foreign steel facilities are usually government-owned and highly subsidized, American workers and American companies often find themselves in the impossible position of trying to compete with a foreign government playing by a completely different set of rules.

It can't be done. Take wages, for example. While some people seem to think American steelworkers make far more than we actually do, workers in steel-making facilities in many foreign countries make barely enough to survive. In Brazil, Korea and Taiwan their daily wage is less than the hourly minimum wage in America.

Anything approaching such a wage scale in this country would result in a severe depression for everyone. Nobody could afford to pay American-style medical bills, taxes, home payments or food bills on such wages. Neither could they afford American automobiles, consumer goods or educations for their children. The result of such a low-wage policy would be devastating, not only for hourly workers, but for business and professional people and all others in our society.

This is the ultimate effect of unchecked industrial targeting and dumping by foreign producers. It is an effect that no one could escape.

And the effect of dumping is the same, whether it's made possible by subsistence wage rates, or, as in the case of British Steel, excessive government subsidies.

We're doing everything we can to resist the U.S. Steel-British Steel deal. We're convinced it would open the way to the destruction of the American basic steel industry. But beyond that, we want to help make the American people aware of the dangers of foreign industrial targeting and dumping to all of us.

All of us are the targets. Including you.

The October meeting of Preceptor Chapter Beta Sigma Phi, was held at the home of Carol Cathey with Vice-President Betty Beck presiding. Meeting was opened in regular form with nine members present and one guest. Minutes of last meeting were read by Secretary B. J. Jones and the treasurer's report was given by Carol Cathey who also requested all monies for current ways and means project be turned in no later than the next meeting.

Executive Board recommendations were reviewed and accepted unanimously by the chapter.

President Donna Lane reported the last meeting in September was not put in the paper, due to the absence of the publicity committee. The meeting was held in the home of Betty Beck with Mrs. Lane presiding. The meeting was highlighted by a report given by a representative of Alpha House on Cleveland Boulevard. Cultural program for this meeting was presented by outside speaker, Linda Beck.

Betty Beck and Donna Lane received facials and makeup given by the professional assistance. The speaker presented brochures and responded to questions from those present. Marilyn Lumpkins, Carolyn Walsh, Linda Koening and Barbara Hente also were present. The president held an executive board meeting after the regular meeting and the hostess served refreshments.

Betty Beck reviewed a portion of the book of Beta Sigma Phi for the chapter and introduced the guest of the evening, Kathy Beck. Other committee reports included Terry Guldge announcing the next meeting would begin at the Alpha House with the members going out later for the refreshments. Marilyn Lumpkins reported the October Council meeting would be at the home of Carol Cathey and all members are invited to attend. Dorothy Simpson announced the current ways and means project was very successful and the coming project was explained and displayed by her and the hostess.

Linda Koening reminded the chapter of the Missouri State convention to be held at the St. Louis Marriott and hosted by St. Charles. Mrs. Barbara Hente asked members to remember our member, Joan Pritchard, who is hospitalized at the present time.

The hostess served dessert during the presentation of the cultural program. Mrs. Cathey spoke on "Nutrition" with excerpts from the Prevention and Organic Gardening magazines and displayed "olympic diet" by those training for the 1984 Olympics.

Madison approves compulsory school law

SUSAN SIGNAIO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

Despite some heated criticism from Alderman Dan Garrett, the Madison City Council approved an ordinance Tuesday night that regulates compulsory school attendance and truancy for the Madison School District.

Garrett, who also serves on the Madison School Board, said he had not heard of any problems with students who were not attending school. "I have not heard any testimony that this city has a problem with school-aged children not attending school. The only reason we should pass an ordinance like this is to alleviate a problem."

Garrett further disagreed with the penalties established for those parents, guardians or other persons responsible for harboring children and keeping them from attending classes. Under the ordinance, a person in violation can be fined anywhere from $25 to $500.

"I don't believe in intimidating or making threats to parents," said Garrett. "Most people send their kids to school, but the few people who don't send their kids to school should be dealt with by a social worker and a truancy officer. This is a social problem, not a criminal problem."

Garrett said he feels it is the school district's responsibility to hire social workers and truancy officers if there is a problem. "The Madison school system can afford to hire these people; they're a fairly wealthy school district." He pointed out that the district's superintendent and assistant superintendent as proof of the district's financial "wealth."

Garrett also added that the state of Illinois runs the schools and he feels the school district should leave punishment up to the state.

City Attorney Casper Nighoghossian explained that the city's ordinance could help expedite the state's judicial process in the prosecution of violators. "The way the law is now, by the time the complaint is reviewed, most of the school year is gone and the child is way behind because he's missed most of the school year. And this type of complaint only applies to chronic truants, students who have missed 10 or more days of school. The city's ordinance will help expedite matters."

"The city's ordinance also does not provide for the violation to be a jailable offense, like the state statute. This way we won't have to provide legal council for those people who can't afford a lawyer. It also will provide the people with the opportunity to have a clean record if they agree to go to school from then on."

Superintendent of the Madison School District, John Palchick, Wednesday confirmed the fact that the school district asked the city council to pass the measure. "There really is no real problem with truants, but some people have called us from time to time and expressed a concern with the number of school-aged children walking the streets. I think that the measure will be beneficial to the city and that it will help with the attendance."

Alderman William Gusheff added that the city council should pass an ordinance like this because the school board cannot legislate for these types of regulations.

Garrett further disagreed with the penalties established for those parents, guardians or other persons responsible for harboring children and keeping them from attending classes. Under the ordinance, a person in violation can be fined anywhere from $25 to $500.

"I don't believe in intimidating or making threats to parents," said Garrett. "Most people send their kids to school, but the few people who don't send their kids to school should be dealt with by a social worker and a truancy officer. This is a social problem, not a criminal problem."

"The Madison school system can afford to hire these people; they're a fairly wealthy school district." He pointed out that the district's superintendent and assistant superintendent as proof of the district's financial "wealth."

Garrett also added that the state of Illinois runs the schools and he feels the school district should leave punishment up to the state.

COMPLETES ONE STATION TRAINING

Army Private Jeffrey S. Strubberg, son of Phyllis L. Bodt of 708 Meadowlane Drive and Victor D. Strubberg of Plainview, Ill., has completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, GA.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapon infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad. He is a 1982 graduate of Granite City South High School.

One of the reasons for the success of the Illinois Knights of Columbus drive each year to aid the Mentally Retarded is that the money collected is returned almost entirely to the community workshops and organizations for the mentally handicapped located in the area where the funds were solicited.

A second reason for its success is that statewide programs, like the Illinois Special Olympics, Inc., are regular beneficiaries of the program.

SIUE grants to reach highest mark

According to Gerald M. Britan, associate dean of Graduate Studies and Research, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE), funding for externally sponsored research, training and student support grants at the university is the highest it has been during any quarter for at least the last five years. During the period from July 1 through Sept. 30 of this year, 56 grant proposals were funded for a total of $4,576, 370, by various federal, state, local agencies and private firms.

Britan said this represents a 134 percent increase in funding compared to the first quarter of fiscal year 1983 and included large increases in every funding category. "The data strongly suggest that external funding will rise sharply during fiscal year 1984. Last year's funds are already surpassed and funding for the entire year may well equal or exceed any previous records."

Post-doctoral grants

Grants available at the university include the post-doctoral grant-in-aids for research on employee benefits and compensation. Administered by the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans, the awards are being offered to scholars and professionals of nonprofit organizations to support research on some aspect of the retirement, health and welfare system in North America.

To be eligible, applicants must be citizens or nationals of the U.S. or Canada, hold terminal degrees (at least a master's, but usually a doctorate) in their discipline or area of specialization, be full-time employees of a nonprofit educational or research institution, and be eligible to remain or return to that institution following completion of the grant-supported research.

The foundation will provide a stipend normally not to exceed $5,000 for a 12-month period.

The object of the program is to encourage established scholars to develop a corpus of benefits and compensation research examining problems having legal, economic, social or political consequences for the private and public benefits field.

The deadline for filing this application is May 15 for summer or fall support and Nov. 15 for winter or spring support.

Language fellowships

Research fellowships with at least two years of experience in teaching in a field related to modern foreign languages and area studies not commonly taught in this country are available under the Faculty Research Abroad Program.

The program, authorized under the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961 (Fulbright-Hays Act), provides funds for round-trip air transportation to and from the host country of research, a maintenance allowance based upon salary at the time of application and certain support funds.

The fellowships are available for single or multi-country research in Africa, the Western Hemisphere, East Asia, Southeast Asia and the Pacific, Eastern Europe and the USSR, the Near East and South Asia. Excluded are the United States, its territories and possessions, and Western Europe where the project focuses on Western Europe.

Eligibility requirements are: U.S. citizen, employment by an institution of higher education, engagement in teaching relevant to the foreign language or area of specialization for the two-year period immediately preceding the date of the award and firm command of the foreign language or languages necessary to carrying out the research successfully. Closing date for the applications is Friday, Oct. 28.

Engineering grants

SIU at Carbondale has grants and scholarships available for high school students wishing to study engineering. The National Society of Professional Engineers (NSPE) sponsors a number of tuition and fees scholarships and cash awards each year. SIUC engineering professor Howard E. Hesketh has information on current NSPE awards.

One of the NSPE grants is a full-tuition scholarship to attend SIUC (worth $3,576) and major in any of five College of Engineering and Technology programs: electrical sciences and systems engineering, engineering mechanics and materials, thermal and environmental engineering, mining engineering, or engineering technology.

Other NSPE awards range from $1,000 to $4,000. The awards are based on academic achievement, participation in extracurricular activities, evidence of leadership, character and self-reliance as well as on recommendations from teachers and counselors, according to Hesketh, professor of thermal and environmental engineering and head of the Egyptian Chapter of NSPE.

To be eligible, a student must be a senior, rank in the upper one-fourth of his or her graduating class, be a citizen of the United States and plan to study engineering at a school accredited by the National Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology.

Information on NSPE scholarships is available from Hesketh at the College of Engineering and Technology, SIU, Carbondale, Ill., 62901.

SIUE offers a pleasant way to spend Saturday afternoon

The biggest portion of Cheryl Hillig's week is spent in the classroom. When she isn't working as a substitute teacher in one of the Edwardsville schools, Mrs. Hillig is completing the requirements for a doctoral degree at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. And that's not all. When the weekend comes, she is back on the university campus, taking courses for her own enrichment.

Mrs. Hillig is one of the hundreds of people who are participating in the Week End University, a program whereby regular academic classes are offered on Saturday mornings and afternoons and on Sunday afternoons at SIUE.

The main purpose for offering classes on the weekends is to serve the needs of people who would like to obtain an academic degree, but for one reason or another, are not free to attend classes on weekdays.

Just why is a person who already has a bachelor of arts in psychology, a master of science in education (with concentrations in counselor education), and is beginning to work on her doctoral dissertation, back on campus Saturday afternoon — pursuing, of all things, a creative writing course? For Mrs. Hillig, the answer comes easy. It is for her own enrichment. "It's a pleasant way to spend a Saturday afternoon," she said. "I eagerly look forward, not to the end of school and classes. On the contrary, I look forward to developing my interests and abilities in the arts."

year for a class, I chose to luxuriate in creativeness just prior to the worst of the hurdles I've now come up to — the dissertation."

Mrs. Hillig is concerned about the growing preoccupation in career specialization at the expense of the arts and the humanities. "I think it's a shame that education has moved away from what it traditionally has been," she said. "What day is it in the upper caps and gown and march in — honors class? I really value experiences like that," Mrs. Hillig added.

The doctoral student feels, to have a well-rounded education, students should have some background in all of the disciplines, "where both sides of our brains are exercised."

She went on to say, "If people feel that life is somewhat routine and flat these days, it may be because our educational processes are more and more lending themselves to preparing people for a career... and ignoring the creative side. "That is the side that supports life's richness," she concluded.

Seniors will keep learning

In only six years, almost 9,000 area senior citizens have participated in non-credit learning experiences offered by the Metro-East Institute of Lifelong Learning. At a luncheon marking the completion of the Institute's sixth year, Reba Klenke, coordinator in the Office of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, reported that 8,937 seniors have been enrolled in 663 courses at an average of 20 different sites in Madison and St. Clair Counties.

The Metro-East Institute of Lifelong Learning is a cooperative venture between SIUE, Belleville Area College, Lewis and Clark College, and State Community College, as well as the regional chapters of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and several senior citizen sites in the area.

During the Institute's first year of operation, 448 seniors enrolled in 34 classes at eight locations in the area. During the 1982-83 academic year, 1,664 seniors participated in 136 courses at approximately 20 locations.

The Institute's peak year of enrollment was 1980-81 when 2,302 residents took part in 165 classes.

Officers installed during the meeting included: Dorothy Sander of Caseyville, president; Charlotte Miller of Belleville, vice president; Nancy Krehniak of Edwardsville, secretary; Reba Klenke of Edwardsville, treasurer; and Lucille Shanter of Belleville, historian.

Classes offered during the past six years have reflected the interests and needs of area senior citizens and have included informational, skill building, and social and physical activity courses.

Senior citizens wishing to learn more about the organization should telephone Mrs. Klenke at 1-692-3210.

Mother-daughter social held at Suburban Baptist Church

A social event for members of the Girls in Action organization of Suburban Baptist Church and their guests was held in the church fellowship hall, last week.

Mrs. Karen Wolf, G.A. director, opened the affair with information of past projects and plans completed by the girls and reviewed future programs of the group. She introduced each member who in turn presented their guests. During the program hour Becky Scott received her G.A. pin with Mrs. Wolf listing her accomplishments for the year which included reading five Mission Action books and being advanced to Acteens.

At this point, Mrs. Imogene Wyrostek, Acteens director at the church, and Mrs. Laura Tegler, Junior Acteen leader, welcomed the new member.

Special guest for the afternoon was Mrs. Jean Corzine, Baptist Women's Director for Madison County who is involved with 24 churches in the county. Mrs. Corzine shared her thoughts and feelings on the importance of G.A.'s and Acteens in the life of a young girl.

"G.A.'s and Acteens offer girls the opportunities to become involved in mission work, sharing our peoples needs, and learning to allow Christ to work through them," she explained. Entertainment was provided by the G.A. members who sang and performed skits using songs they learned as the basis for their act.

Refreshments were served to those named and to Mrs. Joyce Churchwell, Women's Missionary Union director at Suburban, Shawn Wolf, Melissa Simson, Joyce Barnes, Pat Reynolds, teachers, Mrs. Arleen Wyatt, Missions Friends director, Mrs. Julie Simcosky, wife of the church pastor, Mrs. Judy Scott and daughter Becky, Mrs. Brenda Hayes and daughter Elizabeth, Laura Stalenecker, Miss Marti White and sister, Becky, Miss Susan Flowers and niece Tammy, and Tara Wyatt.

The G.A. group meets each Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the church located at 2500 St. Clair Ave.

Lutherans to celebrate Martin Luther birthday

Joining in world-wide festivities to be observed on Oct. 31, the 500th birthday of Dr. Martin Luther.

Known as the "Great Reformer," Dr. Luther (1483-1546) launched the Reformation on Oct. 31, 1517 in Wittenberg, Germany, and is today regarded as the spiritual father to the world's 350 million protestants.

Preparations to accommodate approximately 1,000 worshippers for the unique observance are underway. It is hoped that visitors from all denominational persuasions will be in attendance on this festive occasion.

The service will feature the Rev. Hannibal Frederick of St. Louis, who will impersonate Luther in a narrative performance. A medieval ensemble from the SIU-Edwardsville music department will play period instruments including the sackbut and lute, and the elementary children of Holy Cross School will present a brief skit on the life of the reformer. The joint choir of Holy Cross and Good Shepherd Lutheran churches will also render a Cantata.

Of special significance will be the presence of Daniel Avenarius from Dubuque, Iowa, a living descendant of the reformer, who will bring greeting from the far-flung Luther family and be available for autographs afterwards. He will be in the St. Louis area several days for radio and television interviews, and other public appearances.

Following the observance, ethnic foods emphasizing the European roots of the reformer will be served at the church undercroft. Cookies in the shape of a goose and a swan focus on the prophecy voiced by the pre-Reformer, John Huss (1370-1415) of Bohemia, who when he was being burned at the stake for his faith, declared, "Today you are roasting a goose, but in a hundred years a swan shall come forth whom you shall not roast." Other refreshments and foods will link the celebration with St. Martin's Day (Nov. 11, the date of Luther's baptism) which has been observed by European Christians since the 13th Century in honor of St. Martin of Tours (335-397), the patron saint of France. The latter holiday includes family gatherings, feasting, singing in the streets, a school vacation for children and other activities.

The Luther Festival is sponsored by Lutheran congregations from Collinsville, Troy, Edwardsville, Glen Carbon, Caseyville, Granite City, St. Louis, St. Jordan, Hanel and Highland.

Ladies in Action aid jail ministry

The Ladies-in-Action group at Brainerd Pentecostal Church voted to sponsor the work of Almetta Haynes, who is involved in a jail ministry program, at a meeting Monday night.

Miss Haynes presently visits and talks with women inmates at three detention facilities, including the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville and the St. Clair County Jail in Belleville. It was reported.

Funds provided by the local women will be used to purchase Bibles, group members were advised.

Dorothy Dickerson, president, opened the meeting with prayer and reminded the nominating committee to prepare a slate of new officers for the Nov. 28 election.

In other business, members voted to hold a monthly Ladies Prayer

Breakfast, starting Nov. 7 at 10 a.m. at the church, and to prepare two Thanksgiving baskets for needy families. Turkeys have been donated for the baskets, Mrs. Dickerson advised.

Mrs. Sue Roe, wife of the pastor, reported the Jim Sisson family shortly will be leaving the state. A farewell potluck dinner will honor the departing church members, it was announced.

The devotional topic was taken from Hebrews 7: Refreshments were served by Barbara Blanton and Jo Raynor.

Doris Glasgow was awarded a prize. In addition to the three mentioned, also present were Bonnie Davis, Opal Orrell, Norma Tolbert, Marie Murphy, Marjorie Glasgow and Rose Finston. Guests were Sheryl Blanton and Brandi Dickerson.

'The Chemical People' film topic of local meetings

"The Chemical People" a two part television program to be aired locally on Channel 9 deals with school-age drug and alcohol abuse and will be viewed and discussed at three area locations.

The first segment is set for Wednesday, Nov. 2, at 7 p.m. and the second part, "A Call to Action" will be shown on Wednesday, Nov. 3.

Seating begins at 6:30 p.m. at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, 2440 Maryville Road, Granite City Army Installation and the Venice Recreation Center.

A discussion panel will follow the broadcast at all three town meetings. The message is sponsored by Plasa Health Care, by David Hutchinson, director of Out Patient Service, there.

Beeler earned a place for tall men in cage history

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

Who was the most outstanding athlete ever to play for Granite City High School?

Just the mere mention of the subject wherever former athletes gather locally is sure to generate a red-hot argument and tend to be backed most vehemently by those from their own classmates or generations.

High on everyone's list is Claude Beeler, who starred in basketball and track for Granite City High in the early 1930s. He was one of the first tall young men who were permitted to "try out" for the basketball squad because at that period of time cage coaches thought that a guy over six-feet tall was "too awkward" and wouldn't even let them on the squad.

So, at six-foot-five, Beeler was the star center on the Granite City 1932-33 basketball team which finished second to the Kahoks (even then) of Collinsville in the Southwestern Illinois Conference.

A teammate of Beeler's and a member of that squad, Charles McCollum, was my source for most of the background on Beeler and his brilliant athletic career which included starring roles in not only high school but two years at Washington University in St. Louis (basketball and track) and at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo.

Starters on that 1932-33 Warriors cage squad were: at the forwards, it was Biddy Jetteff and Ken Lignoul; at center, of course, it was Beeler; and at the guards it was Smokey Padgett and Clyde Nelson. Nelson, now deceased, will be more remembered by local fans as well as football fans of Old Missouri as one of the best linemen produced by Don Faurot at Columbia.

The reserves for the 32-33 squad were: Don Ball for Beeler; Goat Roberts and Dick (now Doctor) Byers at the forward slots and Gene Frey and McCollum at guards. At six-foot-two-and-one-half inches tall, McCollum was really a rarity for those days... a tall "big guard."

Incidentally, McCollum said the area's first jump shot was Al Musso of Collinsville, the younger brother of the legendary George of Chicago Bears fame now in pro football's Hall of Fame.

What has happened to those members of the 1932-33 Granite City High basketball team? After high school, Jetteff went to Westminster College and landed a job with Goodyear and was a member of a national Amateur Athletic Union championship team.

Lignoul worked at Granite City Steel (blast furnace) and ended up a supervisor; Beeler, as already mentioned, starred in basketball and track at both Washington U. and Westminster College and is now a very successful businessman in Oklahoma City; Padgett migrated to California and, after service in the U.S. Navy, settled in San Diego to head up his real estate company; Nelson became an officer in the famous Puerto Rican construction company before going into business for himself. He's now deceased.

McCollum was asked what was the biggest upset suffered by Granite City High in his memory.

"That has to be our loss in the Illinois State High School basketball tournament in the spring of 1938 when, in our first-round game, our boys left the floor at the half leading by 17 points and then lost it by one point when a little forward on the Chicago area team, Von Steuben High, took fire and beat us almost single-handed. I think his name was Weder, you'll have to check that out with Dave Morgan," McCollum said.

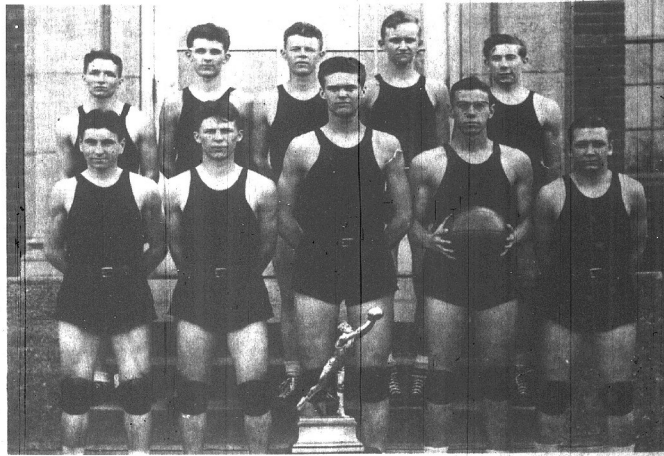

Morgan, now head of the Granite City Housing Authority, was a member of that team.

On a full athletic and scholastic scholarship at Washington U., Beeler nevertheless transferred to Westminster College. Why? Strangely enough, it might well have been the presence of a young lady named Lucille Brangie who made Beeler make up his mind to finish his college career at Fulton, Mo. Beeler and Lucie married shortly after finishing college.

Says McCollum, who with his wife, have remained fast friends with the Beelers all these years: "It had to be Lucie. And, a great athlete in her own right. Way, at age 42, she up and won the Oklahoma Women's Open Golf Championship."

As we wound up this interview, it occurred to me to ask of McCollum: "Charlie what line did you go into after graduating from Illinois College?"

McCollum retired last February after vice president of engineering at Borg-Warner's Health Products in St. Louis.

In Regional Soccer Action

GRANITE CITY — When Granite City High School's soccer team takes on Cahokia this evening in the Region C championship, Warrior Coach Gene Baker hopes his team will be a different one — different in the sense that his team will be more attack oriented.

"We've been practicing a lot," Baker began. "We've been practicing daily — twice Monday — followed by a skill session to talk about our game. I think you'll see more attacking Thursday — more end to end play — than we've showed in the past."

Baker said that the Warrior coaching staff is continuing its quest to learn each player's individual strengths and the best way to tap those strengths to benefit the team most.

"We're still learning about the framework of this team," Baker said. "We have the basic philosophy that each team has to do it (win) differently. Each team has its own personality, assets and abilities."

Baker said he is enthused with the apparent progress that the team has made in the last week and admits he's "anxious to see" how his revitalized team will fare in post-season play.

The Warrior helmetsman won't have to wait much longer as Cahokia, which defeated Madison 4-0 in first round action last Monday in Cahokia (see related story), will square off against the Warriors at 7:30 p.m. at the Gantlett. In the two regular season meetings this year between the Warriors and the Comanches, Granite City won the first match up with the second resulting in a scoreless tie.

For the Warriors, now 13-3-2, it will be their first game in a week. Last Thursday, in their final game of the regular season, the Warriors secured their fourth straight Gateway East Conference title with a 3-2 victory over the Comanches.

Since that final regular-season victory, the Warriors have been working diligently to improve their offensive aspect of the game, something which has been suspect during the final three weeks of the season.

But the Warriors are not the only team which have found it difficult to score late in the season. The Comanches, now 6-6-5, have found it just as difficult to put the ball in the net.

"I thought we were breaking out of the doldrums until we met Madison," Comanche Coach Bob Bresnahan said. "We were really disorganized. It wasn't until I pulled the backs up that we were able to score."

The Shakers and I have discussed this end-of-the-season slump," Bresnahan said. "Neither of us seem to have an answer for it. All we can do is prepare our teams as best we can."

In the other three regionals of the (SIUE) Edwardsville Sectional, Collinsville and O'Fallon will square off at 7 p.m. Thursday at SIUE's Cougar Field for the Region B championship. The game was scheduled for Collinsville's Football Bowl, but was moved to SIUE because of a scheduling conflict.

The Kahoks overcame a 1-0 first half lead by St. Paul in first round action to defeat the Vikings 2-1 to set up the regional championship.

O'Fallon battled a near even Triad (St. Jacob) team 1-0 to earn a berth into the regional final.

In Region A, fourth seeded Waterloo-Gibault knocked off top seeded Belleville East 3-1 to earn a right to meet Belleville Althoff in that regional championship.

Althoff, runner up to Granite City in the Gateway East Conference, beat Belleville West on a penalty kick in overtime to secure a bid in that regional championship. Althoff's senior striker Rich Reininger scored the winning goal.

The fourth regional, Region D, was full of surprises. The Roxana Shells knocked off a strong Alton team 2-1 on penalty kicks in overtime to earn a championship berth and Wood River axed Alton-Marquette by the same score in regulation play.

The Shakers and O'Fallon will meet Thursday evening to decide that championship.

The winners of each of the four regionals will advance to sectional competition this Saturday at Cougar Field.

In the first game of the sectional, which begins at 6 p.m., the winner of the Waterloo-Gibault-Belleville Althoff Region A final will meet the winner of Region B's Collinsville-O'Fallon game. In the second game of the sectional which begins at 7:30 p.m., the Region C winner of the Granite City-Cahokia matchup will square off against the winner of the Region D game, Wood River and Roxana.

In Regional Action

Comanches eliminate Trojan kickers

CAHOKIA — Cahokia High School's soccer team scored four second-half goals to beat Madison 4-0 Monday evening in first round regional play, ending the Trojan's 1983 season hopes.

"We played one of our best games of the season," said Madison Coach Gene Briggs. "But they were definitely better skilled soccer players than we are."

Although the Trojans managed to hold off the Comanche attack in the first half, Madison was not able to do so in the second half.

"We were consistent in stopping their game in the early going," Briggs said. "But after a while — after repeated efforts — they were able to penetrate our defense and score."

The first Comanche to pierce the Trojan defense was Gene Coleman who scored from 15 yards out at the 33 minute mark. Coleman's shot followed a penalty kick which crossed the right side in front of the Trojan goal mouth.

Two minutes later, Matt Mueller, the Comanches fullback, moved up through the Trojan defense and punched in the second Comanche goal unassisted.

The Comanches picked up another pair of goals in the fourth quarter to secure the victory. At the 72 minute mark, Randy Tenhoffer slapped a shot past Madison's defense, giving the Comanches a 3-0 lead.

Six minutes later, at the 78 minute mark, Matt Albrecht put the icing on the cake as he headed a crossing shot past the Trojan's defense.

The victory improved the Comanches record to 6-6-5 on the season. Madison

The winners of Saturday night's contest will meet on Tuesday, Nov. 1, for the sectional championship at Cougar Field.

"I feel like we ended the season on a good note, despite the loss," Briggs said. "I'm only going to lose a few seniors and expect to have 17 returning lettermen back next year."

Statistically, the Trojans' winning percentage was .384, an improvement of 16 percentage points over last year's squad.

"That may seem like an insignificant improvement, but at least we're getting better," Briggs said.

The reason for Madison's success this year was, simply, an increase in goals scored. Last year the Trojans averaged just under two goals per game. This year Madison scored 29 goals in 13 games for 2.23 goals average per game.

SLU, SIUE clash in Boot game Friday

EDWARDSVILLE — In what figures to be the most important game of the year, the soccer Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will put their hopes for a 15th consecutive NCAA National Tournament appearance on the line Friday as they battle the Billikens of St. Louis University in the 13th Annual Bronze Boot game at Busch Stadium. The game, which is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m., will match the Cougars' 6-5-2 record against the Billikens' 11-3-1 mark.

The Cougars, who last year upended the Billikens, 2-0, and virtually eliminated them from NCAA post season competition, will be hoping to keep their NCAA Tournament hopes alive on the wake of their two most productive games of the year. Last week, in Quincy, the Cougars topped the Hawks of Quincy College, 4-2, while last season, in Edwardsville, the Cougars collected four goals in the first half for a 4-0 victory over the University of Illinois-Chicago.

While hoping to even the Bronze Boot series at six victories each, the Cougars will be led by senior midfielder Steve Gauvain, and a pair of junior forwards, Bill Stallings and Bruce Bellinger.

Gauvain, the SIUE co-captain from St. Louis University High School, and Stallings, a product of Rosary High School, each has five goals and one assist, while Bellinger, a native of Wilkes-Barre, N.J., has come off the bench to give the Cougars three goals and four assists. Last year's most valuable player in the Bronze Boot, Dan Malloy, ranks fourth in the Cougars' scoring list with a goal and a team-high five assists.

The game, scheduled to get underway at 7:30 p.m., can be heard live over WISN-FM 91.7 with Ross Weber, Greg Pare and Glenn Beckmann providing all the play-by-play action.

For soccer fans who would like to see the game but will be unable to attend, the game will be shown three times on ESPN, the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network. The game will be broadcast Nov. 2 at 10:30 a.m. Nov. 4 at 11 a.m. and Nov. 21 at 3 a.m. (CST).

In Final Game Braves down Gator gridders

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

GRANITE CITY — Despite two on-side kick recoveries by the Grigsby Junior High Gator football team, the Coolidge Braves handily won the final game of the season between both teams Tuesday, 36-6.

In all, it was an impressive performance by both clubs, particularly Coolidge.

"We've had a lot of stable, good students out this season," explained Brave Coach Keith Parker. "I've had a lot of pleasant surprises as far talent is concerned this year. It's been very pleasant," Parker concluded.

In Tuesday's game, which was twice rescheduled because of last week's rain, Parker's charges racked up 36 points and rather conspicuously 534 yards in offense.

The Gators, a smaller team and numbering half as many as their cross-town rival Braves, racked up six points and 149 yards offense, most of that coming on its third quarter scoring drive.

Coolidge wasted little time in scoring. On its second possession, following an on-side kick, the Braves' Terry Stanley returned a Gator punt 68 yards up the right sideline for the first of Coolidge's five touchdowns of the afternoon. Brett Broadwater, the Braves' placekicker as well as its quarterback, successfully kicked the PAT.

Stanley's touchdown run, incidentally, with 3:37 remaining in the first quarter, was the first of four for the charging eighth grader on the day.

Two and a half minutes later, Stanley improved the Braves' lead by six after taking advantage of the excellent field position afforded the Braves.

Following an 11-yard dash by teammate Randy Chapman, Stanley scampered in from nine yards out to give the Braves a 13-0 lead. Broadwater's ensuing kick made it 14-0 with 1:26 remaining in the first quarter.

On the Gators fourth possession,

Grigsby's George Juengel, who proved to be Coach John Sikora's workhorse, ground out three yards to put the Gators in the plus yardage category, but the Gators were still unsuccessful in gaining a drive-sustaining first down.

Things gradually improved for the Gators as the game progressed, however. On Coolidge's next possession, Chapman picked up 25 yards on an impressive run up the middle. The Braves seemed to be on another march.

But, it all went for naught. On the next play, Grigsby's middlebacker, Monty Osborn, intercepted a pass intended for Stanley. The ebb, although momentarily, flowed towards the Gators.

The Gators' offensive plight continued — three downs and a punt.

By that time, Coolidge's offense decided it was time for another score. On their ensuing possession, the Braves marched 90 yards in 12 plays before Stanley pushed it in from two yards out.

The score, Coolidge's third, came with 41 seconds remaining in the half. The PAT kick missed, going to the right.

In the second half, Grigsby began to put things together. On first and 10 from its own 20, Grigsby's halfback Steve Donnelly got the Gators rolling with a gain around the right side.

Sikora, trying to mix running and passing plays, called for a sideline screen pass. Gator quarterback Mike Lane's pass was on target to Donnelly but late — late enough for Coolidge's Stanley to step in front of Donnelly and march unopposed into the endzone 25 yards away for another Coolidge score.

The Braves faked the Broadwater kicking conversion and Chapman dashed in the right corner for two points making it 36-0.

Grigsby offense, which appeared to be getting underway on the previous possession, did so after the ensuing kickoff.

Alternating running plays to Grigsby's Juengel and Donnelly, the Gators put together its most impressive series of the afternoon, a 12-play, 90-yard TD drive. Along the way, the Gators picked up five of their seven accumulated first downs of the afternoon.

With 1:09 remaining in the third quarter, Donnelly plowed up the middle from seven yards out to put the Gators on the board. A fumbled snap foiled Grigsby's PAT kicking attempt.

"I was glad to see Steve (Donnelly) get the score," Gator Coach Sikora said afterwards. "Steve's been our most consistent runner this year. He runs well, picks his holes well and even runs against the grain well. He's been our biggest ground gainer of the year," Sikora said.

The Gators got possession back on the ensuing kickoff when again it executed to perfection its second on-side kick of the afternoon.

The Gators, it appeared, would score again. After gaining 35 yards, most of it coming on a 20-yard sprint by Juengel, the Gator drive stalled and the Gators were forced to punt.

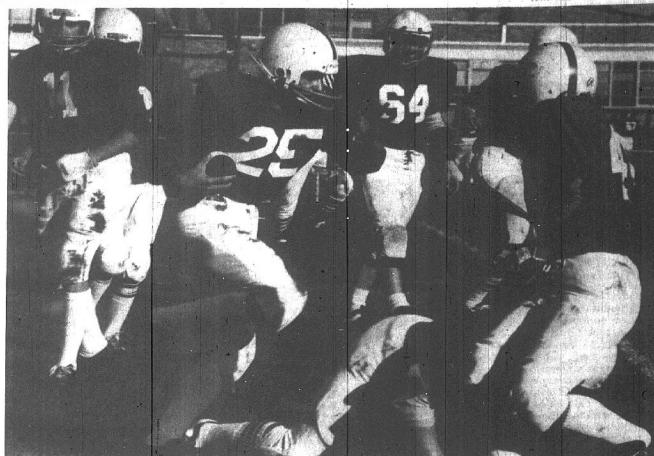

As the minutes waned, Coolidge saw the opportunity for one final score. With the aid of Stanley in the backfield, a Braves' score appeared imminent.

With 1:23 remaining in the contest, Vince Darnell swept right for Coolidge's final score. Braves' fullback Jim Burkhardt rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Braves' victory improved its record to 4-0-1 and marked secured its 18th undefeated football season in the 25-year history of the school. The victory also guaranteed the Braves a tie in the Metro-East Junior High School Conference with Roxana.

"They're just a good, big, physical football team," Sikora said of Coolidge after the game. "We played our hearts out and lost. But, I'm very proud of these kids and what they've accomplished this year."

Grigsby ends the season 2-3. Victories were over Jerseyville and Bethalto. The Gators lost to Edwardsville, Roxana and Coolidge.

A GAINER. Coolidge's Randy Chapman, 25, runs for a gain Tuesday afternoon in the Coolidge-Grigsby Junior High football game at Memorial Stadium. Coolidge went on to win the contest 36-6.

Warrior spikers eliminated by EST

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — It's likely neither Granite City's nor East St. Louis Lincoln's volleyball team realized how important Tuesday's first round game of the Granite City Class AA Volleyball Regionals really was.

Neither the serving nor the spiking abilities of the Warriors and the Tigertettes were indicative of a post season tournament. However, Lincoln's talents shined slightly more than Granite City's, and Lincoln defeated Granite City 15-13, 15-13.

The loss eliminated Granite City from the regionals, and the Warriors ended the season with a 13-10 record.

Lincoln played East St. Louis (Sr.) for the championship Wednesday. The Flyers defeated Cahokia 15-4, 15-4 in Tuesday's other first round game.

In Class A volleyball regional action, Madison defeated Metro-East Lutheran 15-5, 15-10 in a first round game of the Staunton Regional. Venice lost to Breese-Central 15-4, 15-6 in a first round action of the Mater Dei Regional. The loss eliminates the Red Devils from post-season play.

Madison plays top-seeded Staunton today in a semifinal game of the tournament at 7:30 p.m. The championship game will be played Saturday.

"We just didn't get into the game, and neither did Lincoln," said Warrior Coach Wilma Schultz. "Both teams came out pretty slowly, and both teams made a lot of mistakes."

Both the Warriors and the Tigertettes were guilty of poor serving and poor spiking. It was simply the timing of the mistakes that did in the Warriors.

Lincoln plodded its way to a 3-5 lead in the first game and a 9-3 lead in the second game and blew those leads. The problem was that the Warriors couldn't keep up the momentum in either game.

After Lincoln picked up a 9-5 lead in the first set, the Warriors came up with eight straight points off the serving of Vicki Smith to take a 13-9 lead. Lisa Lilley contributed in that streak with two spikes, and Tammy Jones added another winning spike as well.

When Granite City finally lost the serve, neither team could score on the next four serves. Lincoln took charge when the Warriors failed to execute two spikes and failed to control the Tigertettes' serves properly. Lincoln then scored the final six points to win the first game.

The second game was nearly a carbon copy of the first game. Again Lincoln took a 9-5 lead, but the Warriors made a comeback. Lilley's serving and spiking and Michelle Morgan's serving again enabled the Warriors to take a 13-10 lead.

Disaster struck again. Two spikes by Lincoln's Mesho Strouther, a dunk over the net by Lincoln's Donna Pope, and two Warrior mistakes allowed the Tigertettes to close the game and win.

Schultz believed the Warriors' serving inconsistency was one of the factor in the loss.

"The team just didn't serve as well as it usually does. On the other hand, Lincoln wasn't serving very hard and wasn't getting the ball over," Schultz said.

Losing the first round game was also disappointing for Schultz and the Warriors. "We were hoping we could win this won and get out of the regionals. Still, this is the first winning team I've had in three years, and I proud of the girls," she said.

Meanwhile in Staunton, fourth-seeded Madison played well enough to win against fifth-seeded Metro-East. Madison's victory was the first time the Trojanettes have won a post-season volleyball game.

"Two strong serving performances allowed the Trojanettes to pull away from Metro-East. In the first game, Carol Zarr pulled Madison in front with a long string of serving points. Abigail Heard put the Trojanettes ahead with a string of serving points in the second game.

"We played good enough to win. We played okay, and we have to be good against Staunton. It may work to our advantage to have play that way because Staunton may not expect that much from us," Madison Coach Carol Cole said.

"We have nothing to lose, and they do because they are the number one seeded team. They're a well-balanced team, and we have to be ready for them. We have the ability to play well," she said.

SIUE, Oak Hill to host tennis tourney

EDWARDSVILLE — Four of the top 20 college tennis teams in the country, the top ranked singles player in the NCAA, a cast of All-Americans and the six-time NCAA II National Champion Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will all be on hand Nov. 4-5 as SIUE plays host to the 7th Annual SIUE/Up-Intercollegiate Tennis Invitational Tournament at the Oak Hill Racket Club in Belleville.

The 7-Up Tournament, which last year saw the host Cougars battle to a championship tie with the Razorbacks of the University of Arkansas, will again pair the Cougars against the Razorbacks as well as teams from Clemson University, the University of Michigan, the University of Minnesota, the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Illinois State University and the Salukis of SIU at Carbondale.

Last year, in the national championships, both Arkansas and Clemson finished in the top 10, while Michigan and Minnesota were listed among the top 20 college teams in the United States. The SIUE Cougars, despite being a member of Division II, finished 12th in the prestigious Division I poll.

In the first of the six singles flights, the star-studded field includes Fredrick Pahlett, the top ranked collegiate singles player in the country, Pat Serret, the Arkansas All-American who won the 1982 NCAA doubles crown, Per Wadmark of SIUE who regarded as one of the top 32 players in the NCAA, and Rick Hansen, the 1982 All-American who earned NCAA I All-American honors last year in the singles competition.

Also expected to compete for the Cougars in the singles competition will be Johan Sjogren, Peter Moore, David Delsen and Joe Vassen.

In the doubles, the Cougars are expected to pair up with Sjogren and Delsen, Burke and Kwon, and Monty Oppenheim and Vassen.

SPIKE. Granite City's Lisa Lilley (10) tries to spike the ball past East St. Louis Lincoln's Donna Pope (13) and Armendar Johnson (16) in a first round match of the Granite City Class AA Volleyball Regional Tuesday. Lincoln won the match 15-13, 15-13 and played cross-town rival East St. Louis for the championship Wednesday.

Homecoming marks the return of Warrior, Trojan grid teams

This is Homecoming weekend in the Quad-Cities — that fall football festival. It's a time of pep rallies, sock hops, plays, bon fires, coronations and spirited football games.

This Friday, the Homecoming week will culminate at both Granite City and Madison High Schools as each grid squad welcomes their 1983 Homecoming opponents.

Granite City will host the Northwest (Mo.) High Blue Devils while Madison will host the Red Bud Musketeers.

For the Trojans, it's their last game of the season. Granite City has one more, next Saturday against Streator.

For both the Warriors and the Trojans, 1983 has been a rebuilding year. Not just one year in four that every school goes through — but rebuilding of each school's football programs.

Most people considered the Warriors, after the consolidation, to rank up there with the Belleville high school football teams. "They're gonna be tough," they said. But, Warrior Coach Tom Wyrostek knew differently. Wyrostek's been coaching football too long to think anything different. He said it was going to be a rebuilding year and it has been.

"Until we get back the confidence we're not going to win as many as we would if we had that confidence," Wyrostek said. "We've played nearly every team close this year, except Belleville West. Right now, we're rebuilding a team and team confidence. We're trying to get over that hump."

Wyrostek came to Granite City High from Granite City North. He brought with him a winning record and football savvy revered in Metro-East prep football. His enthusiastic, inspiring style of coaching football is reflected in his athletes and his demeanor on the field.

He has coached the Warriors to a 2-4 record thus far this year with the possibility of finishing an even .500. It's been a while since the Warriors have even considered finishing that well.

South of Granite City, a similar coach has taken over at Madison, Don Smith. Smith, in his first year as head coach is regarded as a coach who both teaches and demands discipline. Smith's discipline has piloted the Trojans to two victories this year. Their record currently stands at 2-5.

That may not seem like very much, but when you consider the Trojans went for two years without a win, a 2-5 record is like manna from heaven.

"This first year my plan is to get the program off

Sports on the Run

By Alan L. Gertsenecker

its feet — get people enthused about Madison High football again," Smith said.

"I've tried to discipline the kids. When we've established discipline then they can get serious about football again," Smith said.

"Sometimes, I wonder if I'm doing the right thing," Smith said referring to his coaching techniques. "But all I've heard is positive things from fans and other coaches about the improvements we've made this year. That's the kind of reinforcement that's needed to turn this thing around."

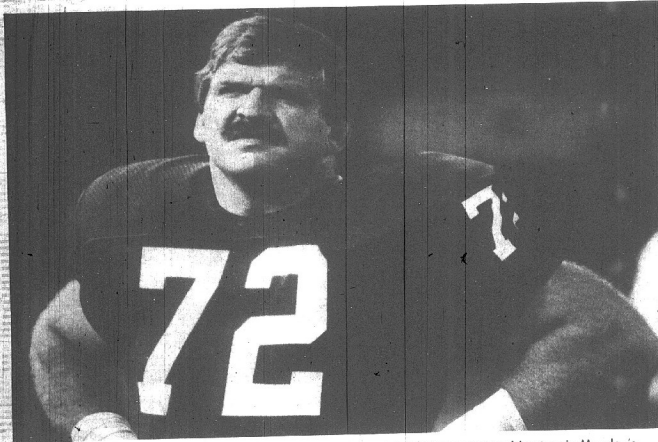

Of the two teams coming to the Quad-Cities this weekend for the Homecomings, the Trojans are statistically the most likely to emerge victors. The Musketeers are winless this season 0-7, while the Warriors' guests, the Blue Devils, are 4-2 in the tough St. Louis Public High School League.

The Warriors will find victory difficult against the Blue Devils, but certainly within reach of Wyrostek's charges.

On related note, football's future in Granite City couldn't be brighter. Tuesday afternoon, Granite City's two junior high school teams battled it for the intra-city junior high championship.

Through 32 minutes of fine football, the Braves emerged 36-6 victors and clinched a tie with Roxana for the Metro-East Junior High Conference title. Congratulations to Coach Keith Parker and all the Braves.

Memorials 32

IN LOVING memory of
FRANK F. T. Z.
BARUNIA who left us two years ago Oct. 27, 1981. We all still cherish the sweet memories we had when you were here, there's still pain in our hearts and minds. We will never forget our last goodbyes. God watch you as you suffer and know the time was never
as close your weary eyes
and took you into his care, but yet it's something we will all be able to share,
in time we will all be there.
Sadly missed by Wife,
Children and Grandchildren.
